NEW HIGHS ARE SET IN WALL STREET

Houston Oil jumped over 12 points in Wall Street trading today to a new high. International Harvester set a new high, up nearly 5. Rails held the centre of the stage in early trading. A wave of profit-taking was easily aborbed. Remington advanced over 4. General Motors was at a new high, up nearly 3, in the closing period.

POLICE HUNTING FOR $40,000 'HIDDEN' LOOT

With the defense still hammering at its contention that William A. Jordan, Boston & Maine baggagemaster, was the ringleader in the $65,000 Amesbury train robbery last July, the trial of the three Nashua men charged with the crime was resumed this afternoon.

As th [illegible] oned its witnesses to link the trainman with the crime, officers were searching along the roads outside Newburyport for $40,000 of the loot which John Boyd,

'LET'S SHOOT!' YELLED OFFICER AT HARVARD FIGHT, STUDENT SAYS

While "sharp cracks" of police clubs on student heads rang out above the cries, one policeman shouted to his mates, "Let's pull our guns and shoot," it was testified by Harvard students today in the "Battle of Harvard Square" trial.

One student testified that he was clubbed in the face even after the battle had ended, this clubbing taking place as he was getting out of the patrol wagon at the station house.

SENATE PROBERS BACK GOULD'S RIGHT TO SEAT

Washington, Feb. 28 (A.P.)—The right of Senator Gould, Republican, Maine, to a place in the Senate was upheld today in the report of the Senate elections sub-committee that investigated charges against him.

The sub-committee members recommended that the charges, which revolved about the payment of $100,000 to a Canadian official, be dropped.

The investigation was made at the instance of Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, who charged that Gould had turned over $100,000 to former Premier Flemming of New Brunswick in connection with a contract for a railroad. Gould on the witness stand denied any fraud was involved.

SUBSTANCE OF REPORT.

The report today declared the subcommittee is "in entire agreement in the following:

"The undertaking by Gould associates to build the railroad, was, in the beginning, free from suspicion of dishonesty or fraud.

"The transaction had in fact no

SHIPPING BOARD HEAD CHARGED WITH 'GRAFT'

New York, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—Charges that T. V. O'Connor, chairman of the United States Shipping Board has "participated illicitly in the proceeds" of companies operating by virtue of contracts with the board are contained in a suit filed in United States District Court today.

The action was started by John C. Hackett, former deputy police commissioner, to void a lease by the Shipping Board to the Tidewater Terminal Company, Inc., of terminal privileges in army bases at Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Boston and Norfolk.

The complaint, based on information and belief, said the contracts were made by Harvey C. Miller of Philadelphia, who controls the Tidewater Company, and charged O'Con-

WRITE IN YOUR VIEWS ABOUT HAPPY HOMES

Today begins the second week of the Boston Evening American's "What Makes Home Happy? What Makes Home Unhappy?" discussion.

Each and every reader is invited to contribute; an effort will be made to print such letters as appear to be most helpful, most original or most entertaining.

For every letter published the Boston Evening American will pay Ten Dollars, except on Saturday. The end-of-the-week award will be FIFTY DOLLARS.

Today's letter comes to us from by love, the other by selfishness. As Mrs. Baker describes the latter you can almost hear the music-box playing, "I Love Me."

The Boston Evening American will be glad to receive your views on the question before the household. Tell us what, in your opinion, makes a happy home. But tell us also, please, what it is that makes home unhappy.

Please limit yourself to 300 words and write on one side of the paper only. Address your letter to Home Editor, Boston Evening American, P. O. Box 110, Boston, Mass.

U. S. WINS FIGHT OVER DOHENY OIL LEASES

Washington, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—The government won today its fight to cancel the oil leases and contracts awarded Edward L. Doheny while Albert B. Fall was Secretary of the Interior.

In a sweeping opinion the court held that the lease by which Doheny interests were to develop the Elk Hill naval oil reserve and the contract by which they were to build storage facilities at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, were tainted by fraud and corruption.

The decision cancelled both the lease and the contract, confirming the findings of the lower court.

The highest tribunal based its decision on evidence deduced in the trial court and previously brought to light in the famous Senate oil inquiry, showing how the negotiations were conducted without competitive bidding and in secrecy, and how before the deal was consummated Doheny sent Fall $100,000 in a little black bag.

The final finding today was taken without regard for the verdict of a jury in a local court here which acquitted Fall and Doheny of a criminal conspiracy charge based on the $100,000 transaction.

HarvardStudents Tell of Police Clubbing at 'Riot'

The policeman who swung his club on the student's chin, the latter testified, was the same officer who had held his gun in one hand and his club in the other on the ride to the station.

But, according to the student, the officer appeared concerned about getting his gun put away before going into the station.

Previously in the day's session, evidence was presented that three policemen clubbed one student as he lay on his back in the street.

President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard entered Judge Stone's court just in time to hear a witness' dramatic story of the treatment accorded one student in the historic combat.

This witness, himself a student, testified that he had counted the blows rained on this unfortunate's head, and they totaled exactly seven.

The first witness called as the defense opened was B. J. Stuart McDonald, student at Harvard Law School.

The witness detailed the beating "suffered by the tall student in the dogskin coat."

This was Ferguson, charged by the police with kicking two of their number.

The witness was examined by Judge Chase, counsel for the students.

SEIZED VIOLENTLY.

Q.—Were you in the University Theatre on the night in question. A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Where did you go after the show? A.—I went into the Georgian restaurant, stayed there about ten minutes, came out on the street and saw the patrol wagon drive up. Quite a number of policemen jumped out waving their clubs. They were seizing men violently and arresting those standing near them. Some of those arrested had their backs turned to the police and were doing nothing at all to cause their arrest.

I decided to get out of the way, so I walked over near the Crimson Pharmacy, and then I saw a tall student in a dogskin coat.

Q.—Did you know who it was? A.—I learned later that it was Ferguson.

Q.—What was he doing? A.—He was struggling to get away. He finally did get free and ran for four or five paces, then slipped on the ice and fell down.

CLUBBED ON HEAD.

Four policemen chased him and three stood at his head aiming blows at him with their clubs. The other policeman stood at his feet and I saw him draw back his foot as though to kick the wallen man. I do not know whether the kick landed on Ferguson or not, but I heard the crack of the clubs on his head.

Q.—Where did this take place? A.—Near the "pill-box" on the Boston side.

Q.—What happened then? A.—Ferguson got to his feet and staggered away. An officer followed him and clubbed him over the head and he fell again. He got up holding the back of his head. I saw his face and it looked as though he were yelling. Then the police put him in the wagon.

Q.—What was the crowd doing all this time? A.—Yelling to the police to stop beating the man. All were horrified.

TRIED TO ESCAPE.

Here the witness was taken for cross-examination by City Solicitor Peter J. Nelligan of Cambridge.

Q.—Did you leave the theatre directly after the show? A.—Not immediately. I stopped to watch Bob [illegible] gathering up the coins thrown to him.

Was there any disorder in the [illegible] when you came out of the [illegible]? A.—No, I simply saw a crowd in front of the Crimson Pharmacy.

Q.—What was Ferguson doing when you first saw him? A.—Struggling to get away.

Q.—Did you see him lift his feet? A.—No more than he would in walking.

Q.—The officers were having a hard time holding him, weren't they? A.—Yes.

Q.—What did he do when he broke away? A.—He threw up his hands to ward off their blows.

AIMED BLOWS.

Q.—What did the policemen do when he fell? Didn't they grab him? A.—No, they stood by and aimed blows at him.

Q.—How many times did you see him struck? A.—I saw only two blows land on his head, but they aimed many more.

Q.—Did you notice any disorder at all in the square? A.—Not until the police came.

That was all for the law student.

Another student, Joseph M. Galanis, was next called, and it was during his direct testimony that President Lowell made his entry.

Q.—What was Ferguson doing when you first saw him? A.—One officer had him by the right arm, another by the left. I saw seven blows land on his head. At the last blow his head sagged. I and others shouted to the officers to stop beating the man.

STUDENTS GOOD NATURED.

Here witness was taken for cross-examination.

Q.—Where did you go after the show A.—I went to the sidewalk on Dunster street, where a crowd was collected. I went to see what the trouble was. I saw two men engaged in a verbal argument in front of the Crimson Pharmacy. There was no fist fight. Two patrolmen put the two men arguing into a taxicab.

Q.—What next? A.—One patrolman got on each side of the cab, and then the cab was pushed across the street by the students. The students were good natured, kidding was going on and they were fooling and joking.

Q.—What next? A.—I saw Officer Pryor clubbing everybody in the vicinity. He had lost his hat and he excitedly hit everybody in reach. I saw his club strike five or six men. The students shouted: "Let's keep away from him, he's got his gun and club out."

Q.—Did you hear anybody say: "Let's get the cop?" A.—No, sir.

Q.—Were the men hit by the club saying anything? A.—No, they were beating a hasty retreat.

ORDERLY CROWD.

Q.—Was the crowd orderly? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—So far as you could see there was no reason for the officer getting excited? A.—No, sir.

Q.—Did you see any eggs thrown? A.—Not an egg.

Q.—What did Ferguson do when the officer struck him? A.—He was standing still. I thought the officers were thugs. They aimed carefully regulated blows at his head.

At this point the witness qualified as an expert on clubbing, for he said, "I have seen clubbings before," and then painstakingly illustrated with an imaginary club the difference between a wild swing and a carefully measured blow.

The next witness was Edward H. Earl, a freshman, who was asked to tell what he had seen.

A.—I can't swear it was Ferguson I saw, but I did see a man of his description near the "pillbox" walking toward Boylston street. I saw a policeman run up behind him, grasp his left shoulder and strike him over the head. After that my attention was diverted and that's all I saw of it.

LOOKED SURPRISED.

He was taken for cross-examination by City Solicitor Nelligan.

Q.—You didn't see Ferguson do anything prior to that? Q.—No.

Q.—What happened after Ferguson was struck? A.—I think he turned around and looked rather surprised.

The next witness was Julian L. Estey, student, who was asked in turn to describe what he had seen.

A.—I saw a patrol wagon arrive and take up Officer Pryor. Another wagon stopped at the head of Dunster street. I saw students gathering and I joined them. I saw officers grabbing everybody. I went to the other side of the street and remained there.

I heard one officer say: "Let's pull our guns and shoot."

I went into the yard and while I was there Patrolman Walsh who had arrested Arthur French cried out: "Come out you cowards and stop fighting behind Harvard."

SAW ONE EGG.

On cross examination he was asked if he had seen missiles thrown.

A.—Yes, one egg.

Q.—Did the police get near you? A.—No, sir.

Q.—Did they get near enough to speak to you? A.—No sir, they couldn't.

Next witness was Harvey Manger, student.

Q.—Did you see Ferguson? A.—Yes, I did. I had been down on Dunster street, and I started toward the square to get something to eat. I heard the clang of patrol wagons, and I saw one drive up to the patrol box. The officers jumped out, ran into the crowd and brought out one man.

It was Ferguson. He tried hard to get away. One held him at first, but he couldn't hold him long, and he called to another officer. One of the officers hit him on the head. Ferguson ran away, got about fifteen feet, stumbled on the car tracks and fell down.

While he lay on the ground several officers gathered around him and began to hit him on the head with their clubs. Still beating him, they pulled him to his feet and dragged him to the patrol wagon.

STRUCK THREE TIMES.

He fell against the rail of the wagon. The officers pushed him into it, and I saw one officer raise his hand three times, evidently hitting something inside the wagon.

Q.—Where did you go after that? A.—I walked toward the yard. Officer Gordon came toward me, cursing and swinging his club before him. He asked one boy what he was doing and this boy replied:

"I am watching." The officer said: "Watching, are you," and he hit the boy in the face with his fist.

Next witness was Student R. F. Hodge.

Asked the regulation question, he answered:

TESTIMONY VARIED.

"I first saw Ferguson on his back, three officers beating him with clubs. One stood at his feet. He had raised Ferguson's left leg in the air and was evidently trying to do what the wrestlers term the 'toe hold.' Ferguson kept crying, 'Don't hit me. Don't hit me.'"

The next witness was a decided change from the long parade of students who had more or less corroborated the first story told. He was William L. Grossman, himself a defendant, and possessor of a Vandyke beard.

Also, according to his testimony he was more interested in getting up a bridge game than watching the battle of Harvard square.

Also he denied the testimony of the police who said he had been arrested on Dunster street, insisting that he had been arrested inside Harvard yard.

Q.—Tell what you saw after you left the theatre? A.—I walked to Dunster street, and saw two men being put into a taxi. I stood talking to friends and one suggested a bridge game. Then I heard someone cry, "He's got his gun out." A group of police approached me, the crowd ran and I ran.

ARRESTED IN YARD

Later I returned to the square to see if the proposed bridge game had been arranged. I walked into the yard and was ten yards inside the gate when an officer approached me, seized me by the lapels of the coat, and pulled me to the wagon, into which he put me.

Q.—You were not arested on Dunster street? A.—No sir.

Q.—Did you hear any outcry? A.—No.

Q.—Any noise at all? A.—No.

He was taken for cross-examination.

Q.—Did you see any eggs thrown? A.—No.

Q.—Heard no unusual noise? A.—No.

Student James B. Kearney was next called. Asked what he had seen he said.

A.—I saw the police arrest a man in the yard, though I couldn't say it was Grossman.

On cross-examination he was asked if he stayed in the yard.

A.—No, I stepped just outside and I was clubbed myself by Officer 435.

The next witness was Clarence Tuck, also a student, who told of the Grossman arrest.

Q.—Did you see Grossman arrested? A.—Yes.

How Fire Engine Plays ~ Havoc With Hub; 2 Hurt

DIAGRAM SHOWS SMASH; AUTO WAS TOSSED OVER

Artist's diagram of the smash at Washington and Medford streets, Somerville, when Engine 3 crashed into an auto, hurling two men out and tossing the motor car out of its path. The engine hurtled on its way to a fire, none of the firemen being injured.

HUB AND FENDER OF WRECKED CAR

The auto was hit here by the fire engine. Edward Pazzole of Stoneham and Jerry Cardinal of Medford, occupants of the auto, were taken to a hospital.

2 INJURED AS FIRE TRUCK HITS AUTO

Two men were hurled from their light sedan on Washington street, Somerville, today, when Engine 3 of the Somerville fire department crashed into the lighter car.

The heavy engine lifted the small car and its burden of two, and tossed it across the car tracks.

The injured men were taken to Somerville Hospital. They are:

Edward Pazzole, No. 10 Elm street, Stoneham.

Jerry Cardinal, No. 110 Second street, Medford.

The car driven by Pazzole had turned into Washington street from Medford street when the crash came. Sight of the speeding fire engine was hidden by another car which barely escaped collision with the fire apparatus.

Fire Department Chauffeur W. J. Donovan, and Capt. Frank R. Rammuti, who was riding on the driver's seat, were nearly thrown from the truck as it careened from side to side while Donovan strove to get it under control.

The fireman were answering an alarm for a blaze at No. 14 Broadway, and could not stop to see how the men in the smashed car had fared.

The fire, at No. 14 Broadway, was but a slight blaze in a men's furnishing store.

The sub-committee declined to rule on the claim of Gould's counsel that the Senate had no right to exclude a member for an act committed prior to election.

"If the fullest power exists the committee believes that every case involving the exclusion of a Senator-elect or the expulsion of a member of the Senate for an offence alleged to have been committed prior to his election, must depend upon the peculiar facts and the circumstances of the particular case," the report said.

The report was prepared by Senator George, Democrat, Georgia, a member of the sub-committee.

confessed leader of the robber band, swore he hid by the roadside for Jordan.

It was Boyd's startling story told in his own defense that started the search for the fortune in currency, although the officers of the law frankly admit they have little hope of every uncovering the money.

On the stand Boyd testified the money was hid under a tree along a road leading to Haverhill, just outside Newburyport, and that the tree was marked with a handkerchief so that the trainman could easily find the spot.

The confessed robber refused to specifically designate the road, but Chief of Police John D. Kind of West Newburyport and State Detective Richard Griffin set out today in an automobile in an effort to find the treasure. The plans of the two officers were kept secret.

The trial did not open today until after the noon recess, the court spending the morning in disposing of routine business that has accumulated.

As at previous days of the trial, the courtroom was crowded and scores were unable to gain admission to the courtroom in the Federal Building.

Mary Andrews Kondratuk, pretty sweetheart of Boyd, the robber leader, daughter of John Andrews, another of the defendants, and sister of Michael Andrews, the third of the accused, sat near the defense counsel table at the opening of today's session.

The trial has developed that the blonde Russian girl had a host of suitors, but apparently is interested in only one—John Boyd. The girl left her husband in Chelsea to flee to Texas with Boyd, where the government contends they started a store on a part of the train robbery loot.

Michael Andrews John Boyd

Boyd, who faces 25 years in a Federal prison for the robbery, must face a charge of murder for the death of his wife in Philadelphia when the Federal authorities have finished with him.

TUGS TOW DISABLED STEAMSHIP INTO BERTH

Just before docking with more than fifty passengers from Norfolk, today, the Merchants' and Miners' steamship Juniata furnished a thrill to ferry commuters by whistling for help, just off the ferry lanes. Tugs, rushing to the side of the ship, were told that the vessel had suffered from "a weak heart," which, translated from shipping parlance, means her reversing gear had jammed, making it impossible for the vessel to dock safely. Three tugs, taking hold, nosed her into a berth.

Pretended Pet Dog Penned Missives

New York, Feb. 28.—Some of the idiosyncracies of Edward F. Searles, eccentric multimillionaire, are mirrored in letters sent to his elevator boy protege, Angelo M. Ellison, who is seeking to upset Searle's will and obtain a substantial share of the $15,000,000 estate.

Perhaps one of the most curious disclosures of attitude is that found in a letter to be presented today to Justice Townley and a jury in which Searles, for purposes of authorship of the letter, penned his words as coming from Angelo's pet dog, Junior.

It may have been the devotion of the old man and the young to each other that inspired this letter or it may have been one of the multimillionaire's many pranks of fancy. In any event, it may have an important bearing on the case.

It says as if the dog were the author:

LETTER TO "DEAR PLAYMATE"

"My Dear Playmate Angie, I miss you so much; you have been away so long. I am afraid you have forgotten your little brown Junior, so I send you my picture, so you can see how I look.

"My master is well and I was glad to see him when he came home, but he tells me he is going to leave me the last of the week, so I shall be unhappy again; but I hope you will come back with my master very soon and take me to Windham. With much love from

"YOUR BOW WOW."

Ellison got a bequest of $10,000. The vast bulk of the estate went to Arthur T. Walker, Searles' secretary. Ellison charges that Walker and Lewis L. Delafield, attorney, exercised undue influence in execution of the will. Herman Aaron is counsel for Ellison. Arthur A. Ballantine represents Walker, and William Travers Jerome appears for Delafield.

PRAYED FOR "SOLDIER BOY"

Ellison was an elevator operator at the Hotel Biltmore when he met Searles in 1916. In the ensuing years, according to more than 100 letters put in evidence, a strong affection developed between them. Ellison served in the World War and kept in frequent communication with his benefactor.

One letter, written from Searles' Summer place, Pine Lodge, at Methuen, Mass., October 7, 1917, after Ellison had enlisted, said:

"My Dear Soldier Boy—Oh, how sorry I am that I was not at the hotel to welcome you and take you in my arms and hold you to my heart. I was obliged to come home. I expect to go to New York next week and I will try to come out to the camp to see my boy. I think of you every day and night and wonder if you are warm and comfortable. I miss you so much. My life is only half a life without my dear boy.

"God bless you and keep you from harm, is my prayer. With much love from your guardian, "E. F. S."

ROYAL SAMARITAN

RECONCILES DRAPERS

Princess Boncompagni, formerly Margaret P. Draper of Hopedale, has healed a breach in family relations of 30 years' standing, and as a result of the reconciliation the great industries conducted by the two branches of the family will be merged, it is said.

PRINCESS AS DRAPER FAMILY PEACEMAKER

Milford, Feb. 28.—An American society girl who married into the royal family of Italy is accredited today with having accomplished the seemingly impossible task of reuniting the members of the Draper family, who were separated by a family rift thirty years ago.

As a result of this reconciliation a merger of two great textile industries, one in Milford and the other in Hopedale, is anticipated.

The Princess Boncompagni, formerly Margaret P. Draper, beloved by everyone in this section, is accredited with bringing about the reconciliation and the tentative merging of the Hopedale Manufacturing Company of Milford and the Draper Corporation of Hopedale.

For thirty years one branch of the Draper family has operated the Hopedale company which manufactures silk looms, while another branch of the family continued the operation of the Draper Corporation which started three-quarters of a century ago in the manufacture of cotton looms.

During the thirty years the family has been at odds, the members of the two branches have pursued separate courses socially, as well as in a business way.

It was the father of the Princess, General William F. Draper of Civil War fame, who, after a family quarrel, broke away from his brothers in 1898 and established the Hopedale company.

General Draper was active in politics, and when he was sent to Rome as ambassador by President McKinley it is said his brothers reduced his salary in the Draper Corporation and also carried on costly experimental work of which the general disapproved. Upon his return to America the general sold his interests in the Draper Corporation formed by his forbears, severed all social ties with his brothers and founded the Hopedale company.

BAUER TO ACT ON FIREMAN SHOT BY WOMAN

Mayor Ralph S. Bauer will act at once on the suspension of John Fitzgibbons, member of the Lynn fire department, who was shot by Mrs. Rose Houghton, thirty, a widow, in her home at No. 15 Pond street, Lynn, when she mistook him for a burglar, according to the story of the police.

Fireman Fitzgibbons has the right to demand a public hearing in case he is not satisfied with the penalty measured out by the executive.

"Conduct unbecoming a member of the department," was the charge made by Deputy Chief William Welch in suspending Fitzgibbons.

The wound in the fireman's right thigh is not serious and he has been discharged from the Lynn hospital.

The police are inclined to believe the story told them by Mrs. Houghton and Fitzgibbons. She had arranged to be away from home overnight with her two children and Fitzgibbons, off duty, had promised to keep his eye on the home, to which he was given access.

Mrs. Houghton returned without his knowledge and when she encountered him in the dark, not knowing he was in the house, she fired one shot, which felled him.

RESCUED FISHERMEN FOODLESS 48 HOURS

Vineyard Haven, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—Two fishermen rescued from their drifting motor boat after being without food for 48 hours, left here today for their homes in Baldwin, L. I. They are Charles Stengel and Gustaf Carsen. They were fishing in Long Island Sound when the engine of their boat became disabled.

They were picked up by the tug Catawissa Saturday morning and their boat was abandoned. The tug brought them here today. The men were suffering somewhat from hunger and exposure, but experienced no serious effects.

SNOW FOR HUB DUE TUESDAY

The bright sunshine which greeted Boston and Southern New England is only a teaser, according to the gloomy predictions of the Weather Bureau.

A storm area of moderate intensity is closing in on Boston and cloudy skies are forecast for tonight, to be followed by snow tomorrow.

The weather forecaster, however, opines that the mercury will not cut any capers with the arrival of the snow, but that the temperature will remain about the same. Fresh north winds, shifting to northeast, are to accompany the snow.

E AND GALE PLAY HAVOC IN HALIFAX HARBOR

Halifax, N. S., Feb. 28 (I.N.S.).—Halifax harbor was choked with ice today. A 55-mile gale swept buoys from positions, forced the Cunarder Antonia to put to sea for safety and caused the steamer Gabriella to drag her anchors. Four pilots were unable to return after taking ships from the harbor. Three were carried to New York and one is on his way to Liverpool.

Romeo and Juliet ◆ Shakespeare's Immortal Romance

"Talk of peace! I hate the word
As I hate hell, all Montagues, and thee!"

Our story is laid in the Italian city of Verona, which was beset with strife due to the feud between the great rival houses, Montague and Capulet. Whenever one of the Capulets met any of the Montagues a duel immediately followed.

"Love is a smoke raised with the fume of sighs:
Being purged, a fire sparkling in lovers' eyes."

Romeo, son of the Montagues, fancied himself in love with Rosaline. Benvolio, his friend, knowing that Rosaline would attend a mask ball given by the Capulets, suggested that Romeo mask and attend the ball that he might see her.

"My lips, two blushing pilgrims, ready stand
To smooth that rough touch with a tender kiss."

But when Romeo beheld the rare beauty of Juliet, only daughter of the Capulets, he forgot Rosaline. The girl, not knowing who Romeo was, yet felt drawn to him by a strange fascination. It was love at first sight for both.

"Now, by the stock and honor of my kin,
To strike him dead I hold it not a sin."

Tybalt, firebrand of the Capulets, recognized Romeo, and sent for a sword, vowing to kill him. Old Capulet interfered, not wishing a disturbance at his ball. Romeo, unfrightened, promised to return and see Juliet again.

TO SEEK HARRIS BANKBOOK

George K. Meyers

While Rose Davis and George K. Meyers, of New York, niece and nephew of Charles S. Harris are planning to contest the late theatre manager's will, Emily Fuller, Somerville girl to whom the estate is left, is today at her mother's home, where she will remain until Middlesex Probate Court acts on the will.

Until the court appoints an administrator, it is impossible, according to lawyers representing the parties involved to determine the extent of the estate. It is still believed that Harris left a bankbook showing an account in a Boston bank.

The room in which Harris lived for many years has been locked up since his death and a preliminary search by relatives disclosed no bank book. A new search will be made for it.

BLAME BUTTER, EGG MEN FOR NAUGHTY PLAYS

New York, Feb. 28 (I.N.S.).—The only way the churches can compete with the night clubs is to stay open all night, Aimee Semple McPherson, California evangelist, announced today on her arrival from an up-State tour.

"The people of this country are just crying for salvation," she said, "but they aren't going to go out and look for it. Keep the churches open so that there will be other places to go besides cabarets and wicked shows. The churches are lagging behind with leaden shoes while the rest of the world is flying ahead with magic boots."

The evangelist plans to rest here until Thursday, when she will start for the Pacific Coast.

"My up-State tour convinced me," she stated, "that the big butter and egg men from out of town are the ones who are branding New York as wicked. The people of New York are not responsible for the obscene plays. The butter and egg men are. If censorship will keep these people out of New York it will do a wonderful thing for the city."

Tenor Guarded

BENIAMINO GIGLI

New York, Feb. 28 (A.P.)—The presence of police in and about the Century Theatre, where Beniamino Gigli, Metropolitan tenor, was giving a concert, caused rumors that the singer's life had again been threatened, but it was said today that the guard had been assigned to protect him from his admirers.

SEARLES SENT BOY NOTE FROM 'PET BOWWOW'

Ellison was in camp at Allentown, Pa., when he received the following letter, dated December 10, 1917:

"I received your paper yesterday, showing pictures of your dugouts, and would like to know who the fellow is back of the lanterns. Let me know how you are standing this cold weather up there. I suppose it is impossible to wash your face, and when you want a drink you have to eat ice and snow.

"I have been watching the crack under my door every morning when I get up to see if there is a letter from you. If you have time send me a line an dlet me know how you are. I am writing this from my office, No. 71 Broadway.

"Do you hear anything about your going 'over there?' As ever,

"Your devoted DAD."

Ellison says that at Searles' direction, Walker expended $3,800 for Ellison's transportation to and from Greece, cabled him an additional $1,000 and later placed $1,000 and then $500 to Ellison's credit in a bank.

Prince George Jams Way Into 'Standing Room Only' House

London, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—Prince George knows what "standing room only" signs mean at a theatre.

Having recently returned from two years' naval service in Far Eastern waters, the king's youngest son was eager to see a Chinese news film being shown at a Piccadilly picture house. Arriving unannounced with a friend, he had to elbow his way to standing room in the rear of the theatre, unnoticed by anyone in the audience.

It was forty minutes before the manager heard of his royal guest. Then two boys traded places with the prince and were given four shillings each for their trouble.

4 CHILDREN DIE WHEN DAD PUTS GASOLINE ON FIRE

Quebec, P. Q., Feb. 28 (A.P.)—Four children lost their lives in a fire which destroyed their home at Thetford Mines. The victims were children of Mr. and Mrs. Vital Roy and ranged in age from ten years to seven months. The blaze followed explosion of gasoline with which the father was kindling a fire.

Aged Ex-Bishop Dies

GIRL PLEADS FOR MOTHER'S KISSES

Unkindness of fate and the pathetic story of a girl who has been tossed from "pillar to post" since her parents were divorced, thirteen years ago, is revealed today in the plea of Maria Blake of Tremont street, South End, who seeks the mother she lost when she was but eight years old.

"I was a curley-headed girl of eight when father and mother were divorced. I went to live with mother, but somehow or other things didn't go just right. My mother was divorced again and when she married for the third time, she wanted my father, her first husband, to care for me," she said.

"It was too late to find father. He had gone his way and I was left to shift for myself. I did not see my father again until September of 1925. I found that he had married again and he has six children of his own to care for.

"Now I am anxious to find my mother. I want to experience again the love and kisses that only she may give. I remember that her name was Jeanette and that's all.

"I was christened Josephine May Blake—perhaps that might remind her of me should she read this.

LONG HAPPY TOGETHER

THEIR SIXTIETH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Rush of No. 34 Hancock street were married sixty years ago tomorrow. It is also Mr. Rush's 84th birthday, and they are planning a celebration. Mrs. Rush is 74. Mr. Rush believes prohibition fails because it is intolerance. The best day's work he ever did, he says, was the day he "popped the question" and won his bride.

Compares Two Homes to Get Award

THE essential need for a happy home, with its multifarious distractions and diversions, is an ideal—an understanding on the part of two people that it is a real worth-while job to become the principal factors in an American home. With an ideal as a basis of understanding, the intangibles will rule:— Love, in terms of service; Sacrifice; Patience; Forbearance, and Tact.

The happiest home I have ever known is that of the Browns,—Mr. and Mrs. Brown, John, 18; Betty, 16, and Ted, 13. Mr. and Mrs. Brown are fond, judicious parents, who, by precept and example, have taught their children Truth. At home the character of these children have been builded. They here learn of the facts and realities of life; the parents have the confidence of their boys and girl—the basis of control.

THEIR HOME A HEAVENLY PLACE.

The Browns all sit over the family budget problem—it is THEIR home. The family are pals, comrades—"all for each and each for all." This home of the Browns is a haven of rest, yet a place where joy abounds.

A heavenly place—because the little bit of the Christ which is in every one of us is permitted to have sway. Love rules in this home, not alone when some crucial sorrow is to be borne, but morning, noon and night. The dividends—a contended, happy family and the development of good American citizens.

I know of another home, the props of which are falling: bickering, haranguing, where the father makes excuses not to go home because of being met by a fretful, whining, discontented wife; children who are a law unto themselves, who call their parents "back numbers," and for whom they appear to have little respect.

SIMPLY A PLACE TO EAT AND SLEEP.

To these youngsters their home is simply a place to eat and sleep. Why? Because of a lack of an ideal. Because the parents shirk their responsibilities. Because love does not rule, but rather selfishness, misunderstanding and revolt.

It is a good omen that through the Boston Evening American, the problem of the American home is being recognized, for it is a real problem, and one which needs the awakening of public opinion to its shortcomings, with a view to its betterment.

facts and let him disclose the source of his information.

"I talked with Chairman Carr of the Finance Commission on the telephone after I saw Carr quoted that he was delaying investigation into McGrath's charges on the Biggs contract because he was active in investigating the city budget.

"I told him not to wait a minute on the Biggs matter. I requested him to summons my brother immediately and question him. I further requested that Councillor McGrath be called also, together with Mr. Biggs and others.

$225,000 ASH CONTRACT.

"Although I regard these charges as a joke, the publicity given them demands that the people know the truth.

"I demand of Councillar McGrath that he produce substantiation of his allegations."

Biggs' contract with the city involves a matter of $225,000 for removal of ashes in the Dorchester section.

"Frank" Nichols, as he is generally known, is a deputy in the office of the internal revenue collector, of which Mayor Nichols was formerly the head. He has denied McGrath's charges, which were made at a meeting of a committee of the City Council during a discussion of the unemployment situation.

RICKENBACKER MOTOR CO. TO BE SOLD AT AUCTION

Detroit, Feb. 28 (I.N.S.).—The assets of the Rickenbacker Motor Company were today ordered sold at public auction by Federal Judge Charles C. Simons. A date for the sale will be set later. The order of sale was granted at the request of receivers for the company. The receivership was appointed recently on petition of the Columbia Axle Company.

Eddie Rickenbacker, famous aviator, is no longer connected with the company.

1,300 KNIGHTS TEMPLARS IN PARADE

More than 300 men, arrayed in brilliant regalia of the Knights Templars will drill and pass in review as a part of the observance of the 1[illegible] birthday of Boston Commandery March 12.

The spectacle, one of the most colorful ever staged in Boston, will be conducted in one of the State armories. Each of the 53 commanderies in Massachusetts and Rhode Island will be represented by a squad of 25 men.

High officers in the Masonic body will inspect the marchers. Among these officers will be Eminent Commander Frank O. Clark, Generalissimo Charles L. Hamilton and Captain-General William P. Bullard.

W. P. Bullard (Bachrach)

C. L. Hamilton (Bachrach)

On account of the uncertain weather prevailing in March, there will be no street parade of the Templars. The drill and inspection will be witnessed by the wives, daughters and sweethearts of the Templars.

Boston Commandery has the distinction of being the oldest body working the Commandery degrees of Masonry in the United States. It antedates the Grand Commandery of Massachusetts and Rhode Island and even the General Encampment of Knights Templars of the United States of America, the parent body to which every commandery holds allegiance.

The formation of Boston Commandery was the result of the first Masonic bodies being formed in Boston among members of the British troops that were sent to America prior to the American Revolution.

35 KILLED, MANY HURT, IN BATTLE OF MEXICANS

Mexico City, Feb. 28 (A.P.)—Thirty-four rebels and eleven Federal soldiers were killed and numerous rebels were wounded or captured Saturday near Dolores Hidalgo, State of Gunnajuato. General Cedillo, in making this report to the War Department, said several rebel leaders who were captured were summarily executed.

Leaders of the general railway strike, called ten days ago, are being arrested and charged with seditious activities. It is alleged they intended to bring about considerable destruction to tracks and railway stocks and that they were inciting to an openly rebellious attitude.

FAMILIES FLEE FLOOD ON BANKS OF THAMES

London, Feb. 28 (A.P.)—The Thames is out of its banks, and the inhabitants in numerous places along the valley have been forced to use boats to reach dry land. The bungalows in the American tourist district of old Windsor and Sunbury are surrounded by water. The river is at the top of its banks at the famous Hampton Court, originally built for Cordinal Wolsey, the favorite of Henry VIII.

"THE DOMINATION OF EVE" THREATENED BY NEW CLUB

Cambridge, England, Feb. 28 (A.P.)—An organization called "The Hippolytus Club" has been formed at Cambridge University "to reassert the supremacy of the male."

A statement of policy says: "Convinced that feminine influence is eating like a cancer into modern civilization, the Hippolytus Club will blaze the trail towards an era of uncompromising masculinity. It will shatter the domination of Eve and restore the initiative of Adam.

ARREST 50 BOLSHEVISTS AS HUNGARIAN PLOTTERS

Budapest, Hungary, Feb. 28 (A.P.)—A widespread Bolshevik plot has been unearthed by the police. The authorities say it was centered in Budapest and had ramifications in the principal cities of Hungary.

Up to the present, 50 plotters have been arrested, including Zoltan Scanto, brother of Bela Scanto, who was war commissary during the Soviet dictatorship in Hungary.

CURLEY SAYS CATHOLIC CHURCH WILL SAVE NATION

Providence, Feb. 28.—The destruction of the United States by racial and religious prejudice running rampant over the country is the fear expressed by former Mayor James M. Curley of Boston in an address at the [illegible] annual dinner of the La Salle alumni in the school hall.

"With a wave of irreligion and crime spreading in America, the people look to the Catholic church for deliverance, for it is in the church that her sons are trained to obedience to lawful authority," Mr. Curley continued.

HISTORIC R. I. LANDMARK TO GIVE WAY TO GARAGE

Providence, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—The Peter Randall House at No. 34 Branch avenue, here, one of the oldest historical landmarks in Rhode Island, is soon to be torn down to make way for a modern garage.

Built in 1734 by one Peter Randall the building was used about the time of the revolution as a district schoolhouse. Its ancient beams and walls are in an excellent state of preservation.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY

New York Society Youth Hops Over by Airplane to See the Braggiotti-Denishawn Dancers in Their Act

TO DASH OVER FROM NEW YORK AT SUNDOWN, TAKE in a show in Boston that evening and be back in the Big City again before the clock has started to tick a second way around the circle is a miracle of modern transportation made possible by the newest and most fascinating of vehicles—the airplane. Young Mr. Gifford Pinchot of Gotham made such a trip Saturday. And he came to town solely to see the final performance of the Denishawn-Braggiotti troupe at a local theatre, with the trio of talented Braggiotti sisters at their head. Mr. Pinchot is the brother of Miss Rosamond Pinchot, who is a warm friend and admirer of the Misses Braggiotti.

MISS ANTOINETTE FRISSELL, ALSO OF NEW YORK and also a warm friend and admirer of the Misses Braggiotti, is or rather was a weekend guest in town come over to view their annual professional appearance and be guest of honor at several festivities. Saturday she was the particular guest at Louis Shaw's luncheon, and Saturday evening filled the same post at Miss Polly Thayer's theatre party. Yesterday there was a jollification at the Braggiotti Brookline home with music and dancing given for house guests—and now Miss Frissell is on route to New York again.

THE HOUSE GROUP ALSO INCLUDED ONE IVA PATCHVITZH, formerly an officer in the Imperial Russian Navy—now a member of New York's expatriated Russian set that includes such an amazing number of interesting and accomplished people. As to the Braggiottis, nothing but the highest of praise is heard for their recent stage appearance and nothing less than superlatives could describe the gorgeous costumes designed specially for their act. The matinee of dance given annually by the Misses Braggiotti, when a good half of the Social Register will be in attendance to see its young hopefuls perform, is set for some time in May at the Repertory Theatre.

BOSTON'S PREMIERE WOMAN SPORTSMAN, Miss Eleonora Sears, is trying her hand at squash rackets in tournament play along with more than half a hundred other players, all women, out at the Union Boat Club. Devotees of this variation of the tennis theme are on hand to make a snappy contest—Mrs. Walter I. Badger, Mrs. Lothrop Withington, Miss Marian Moras, Mrs. John Parkinson, Mrs. Talbot Chase and many another. Boston should be proud of its sportswomen. They're a plucky lot, smiling at defeat and taking their honors lightly. Always in trim, too, physically. For example, I've seen the dedoubtable "Eleo" do a fourteen-mile morning hike in a pelting Nor'easter around Newport's Ocean Drive, and immediately afterward, under clearing skies, turn up at the Casino for an afternoon of match play at tennis, her famous smile flashing and her good right arm at its best.

MISS FANNY P. MASON OF COMMONWEALTH AVENUE joins the trans-Atlantic travel contingent, having sailed away to France on the steamship Paris now plowing eastward. Miss Mason, accompanied by Miss Alice Thevin and Miss Emilaine du Merac, is making her usual Spring trip, after having seen the opera season so successfully completed. Miss Mason is a consistent grand opera attendant, appearing regularly during the season.

ONE OF THE VERY LAST APPOINTMENTS announced by Mrs. F. Lothrop Ames before she embarks for Northern Africa is that of Mrs. Edwin Sibley Webster of Dartmouth street and Chestnut Hill to a place on the Welfare Board of the Children's Hospital. The hospital has a very warm and never ending support from the local Smart Set, and Mrs. Webster's appointment is a particularly happy one. Mrs. Ames is going to the new playground Society finds so delightful a Winter rendezvous, and will be away for some two months. The Websters, by the way, have their daughter from Geneva, Mrs. Thomas Hiam, with them for the first time since her marriage. Mrs. Hiam was Miss Frances Webster, second daughter of the Webster trio of girls, and Colonel Hiam has been with the Geneva conference in an official capacity.

ANOTHER RUMMAGE SALE! And a perfectly enormous one, evidently, judging from the huge number of things that have been gathered for it in the rummage dragnet. Tomorrow is the day, and that home of successful Rummage Sales, Horticultural Hall, is the place. The Repertory Theatre Fund benefits. And a round hundred of maids and matrons are working heart and soul for its success, so financially it also bids fair to be a record breaker. It's really marvelous how many such successful sales take place in Horticultural Hall. And equally marvelous where all the "rummage" comes from. But come it does and there's always a horde of eager purchasers literally storming the doors long before the opening hour.

NEW SHOES AND OLD; NEW HATS AND OLD; a delicious luncheon at noontime; things to wear and things for the home; some very attractive prints Mrs. Cyrus Dallin brought from Italy last Summer; books; in fact everything the usual rummage sale has, many that would grace the most ambitious of auction rooms may be purchased. And on hand to sell the articles a band grown expert in such service. Miss Sylvia Shippen, pretty daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Eugene Shippen, is in the coterie. Likewise Miss Nancy Rose, Miss Virginia Hayden, Miss Isabel Beckwith, Miss Emily Evatt, Miss Margaret Bowditch, Miss Mary Mathews and ever so many more girls now so closely linked with the Repertory Club activities, and a group of matrons much too long to enumerate in full, but quite important.

CONGRESS WILL EXPIRE FRIDAY

Washington, Feb. 28 (I.N.S.).—he Sixty-ninth Congress entered s final week today with its lawmaking record practically closed.

The Congress will die at noon Friday with the final enactment of radio control bill, passage of the vetoed farm relief measure and a dozen appropriation bills as its principal legislative achievements. Administration leaders admitted there will be no other major legislation enacted during the four remaining days.

Congress found itself in this jammed condition chiefly because of the eight-day filibuster against the Boulder dam bill.

Two petitions, asking cloture to ward off filibusters, were pending in the Senate today. They were sponsored by advocates of the new Public Buildings Bill and the Andrews Prohibition Reorganization Bill. Appearances indicated that cloture would be refused on both measures.

Caught in the legislative jam and facing defeat were a score of important bills, including prohibition measures and Muscle Shoals legislation.

Administration leaders expected the final week to be devoted to considerable politics.

WHAT PRICE CRIME? WELL, CALL IT $16,000,000,000

New York, Feb. 28.—Crime costs the United States at least sixteen billion dollars a year, it is estimated by Mark O. Prentiss in the Manufacturers' Record. The estimate includes commercial frauds, loss of property, cost of law enforcement and economic waste without attempt graft, and gambling figures.

BOOTLEGGER TO HARVARD FINED

One source of the illicit booze stream flowing through Harvard campus, according to the police, was uncovered in East Cambridge court today when Albert Roberts, aged 20, of Dewey street, Roxbury, pleaded guilty to keeping and exposing and was fined $100.

Roberts was nabbed by Special Officer Michael Normile and Joseph Breen of the Cambridge liquor squad as he was entering the restaurant in the basement of the Harvard Lampoon building.

The officers testifeld that Roberts had eight quarts of gin in his possession when arrested and that this was destined for student consumption until the law interfered.

Roberts went on trial before Judge Walcott in a courtroom just across the hall from where 14 Harvard students were on trial in connection with the so-called Harvard square riot, in which nearly twoscore Harvard students were arrested.

The Cambridge police declare that Roberts has been one channel through which the Harvard students have been securing liquor for some time past.

Roberts paid the $100 fine.

COAST GUARD SAVES CRAFT OFF BIDDEFORD

Portland, Me., Feb. 28 (A.P.)—Communication in southern Maine, wrecked by Saturday's storm, had been re-established today with the aid of emergency crews of linemen and repairmen rushed here from Boston and other New England points, when nearly 2,000 poles were broken down.

A possible marine disaster was averted by the timely arrival of the coast guard cutter Ossipee off Biddeford Pool and the towing safely to this port of the British three-masted schooner Ronald C. Longmire as she was about to be dashed on Wood Island.

EDISON WORKS ON BIG RUBBER INVENTION

Fort Meyer, Fla., Feb. 28 (I.N.S.).—Thomas A. Edison at eighty still has a deep-rooted ambition. It is to make the United States free from dependence on other countries for its supply of crude rubber.

Fired with this ambition, the world-famous inventor is working hard today in his little shop at his Winter home here to perfect an invention that would effect such a result.

In an exclusive interview with an International News Service correspondent, Edison said if he is successful with his new invention it would have a revolutionary effect on the South by displanting cotton growing with rubber producing.

Edison said he realizes this country is wholly dependent upon foreign countries for its supply of rubber and in case of war might be entirely cut off from its rubber supply. He is concentrating on the development of a machine which would crush the rubber plant, press the sap and separate the liquid rubber from the resin.

He said he believes the experiments he is now making may result in a wholesale production of rubber in all territories in America south of Savannah, Ga., and that the rubber industry will supplant the cotton business as the big industry of the south.

Edison's friend, Henry Ford, is co-operating with him. The automobile manufacturer has obtained a large quantity of rubber seed from Madagascar and ground is being prepared here for its planting.

"American-grown rubber of commercial value is one of the greatest needs of the United States," said Edison.

Edison is working on his new invention at the same bench where he perfected the electric light globe and the phonograph many years ago.

BURCH ELOPERS CLAIM THEY TOOK ONLY WAY OUT

San Francisco, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—Captain Arnaldo Marson, Italian war hero, and his stepdaughter-in-law, Mrs. Isabelle Keyes Burch, young Yonkers, N. Y., society matron, who eloped to San Francisco, today attacked the last obstacle between them and happiness.

Ordered before a Federal Grand Jury here to present their side of the four-cornered situation, they claim that since neither Mrs. Burch's husband nor Captain Marson's wife would consent to divorces, they had taken the only way out. The government now seeks an additional indictmentf or conspiracy to violate the Mann act.

PRETTIEST COLLEGE GIRL HAS FRECKLES ON NOSE

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 28 (A.P.).—Miss Helen Nort, 18, a brunette and has freckles on her nose. Despite this, however, college gentlemen, who compose the Lords' Club of Oglethorpe University, announced that Miss Nort was their idea of the prettiest girl in the university.

Consequently Miss Nort was called today during chapel exercises to accept a loving cup from the Lords. The faculty knows her as a young lady who missed the honor roll by only "the tiniest of margins."

ENGLAND WILL JOIN COOLIDGE NAVY PARLEY

Washington, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—Great Britain's response to the American overture for further naval limitation, received at the State Department today, accepted President Coolidge's invitation to discuss the subject and said that the British delegates would "do their best to further the success of the proposed conversation."

Together with the Japanese acceptance, the reply was regarded as probably opening the way for a three-Power consideration of limitation of smaller classes of warcraft in line with the principles applied to first-line ships at the Washington conference.

It was thought that some such project was under study here, although the British and Japanese acceptances, together with the French and Italian refusals will be carefully examined before any decision is announced.

3 CARDINALS STRICKEN; 1 IN A STATE OF COMA

Rome, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—Cardinal Carlo Perosi, assessor of the holy office, who was about to enter on convalescence after an attack of influenza, suddenly collapsed today into a state of coma. His physician is gravely concerned over the cardinal's condition, fearing the worst.

Two other cardinals also have been stricken by illness recently. Cardinal De Lai, secretary of the consistorial congregation, is seriously ill of pneumonia, but his condition was somewhat better today. Cardinal Gasquet, archivist of the library of the Holy Roman Church, is rapidly improving after an attack of influenza.

MRS. WARBURTON GUEST ON VANDERBILT'S YACHT

Paris, Feb. 28 (Universal).—Cruising under the Mediterranean skies and bound for an unknown destination, William K. Vanderbilt was today entertaining a number of friends aboard his yacht which left Villa France suddenly yesterday. Among the guests aboard is Mrs. Barclay H. Warburton, Jr. Vanderbilt was not expected to leave Nice until Tuesday.

The evening before leaving, Vanderbilt entertained Comte de la Motte, Mrs. Warburton and her mother, Mrs. John Lancaster, at dinner at Ciros. The crew of the yacht refused to state where they are going and the port authorities do not know the destination.

PRESIDENT IS REBUKED IN NAVY BILL

By JAMES T. WILLIAMS, JR.

Washington, Feb. 28.—Playing politics with the national defense has finally subjected the administration to a stinging rebuke by Republicans and Democrats in both houses of the Congress.

Many of them agree in placing this interpretation upon the great personal victory which Speaker Longworth scored in the House when 104 Republicans joined 104 Democrats in voting to agree to the cruiser amendment added to the naval appropriation bill by the Senate. This makes a small appropriation to start work on three cruisers which were authorized in 1924.

VETO NOT EXPECTED.

President Coolidge is not expected to veto the naval bill. The main argument made against the amendment by its opponents was that Congress should "Stand by the President." The emphatic answer of the Senate and House of Representatives to this plea was "Our constitutional duty is to stand up for the national defense."

One of the most interesting aspects of the recent fight over the cruiser amendment was the frankness with which Democrats and Republicans seriously discussed among themselves the decreasing effectiveness of the National defense since the Director of the Budget was given so much authority over the War and Navy Departments.

When Congress created the office of Director of the Budget it was not intended that it should supplant the offices of Secretary of War and Secretary of the Navy.

TIME TO GIVE SOLUTION.

It was not intended that the Director of the Budget should be vice-commander-in-chief of the Army and Navy. Yet you hear it said by those who ought to know, that behind the back of the public and under the nose of Congress, the Director General of the Budget has been made the final authority.

Congress does not blame the Director General of the Budget for endeavoring to make a record for economy. But the Congress has taken the view that weakening the morale of the national defense forces, disregarding both the obligations of the naval treaty and the mandate of the National defense is false economy.

How far the Administration will be influenced by the attitude of the Congress is a question only time can answer.

TWO-SCORE BAY STATERS ON WEST INDIES CRUISE

More than twoscore persons from Boston and vicinity were among the 400 passengers on board the Canadian Pacific steamer Montroyal which sailed from New York at noon today for a 29 days' cruise in the West Indies.

The Bostonians making the trip are Fire Commissioner and Mrs. Eugene C. Hultman, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Chase, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Landers, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Morse, Miss M. C. Greenwood, Miss Anna C. Ball, Miss Marion Ball and Miss Priscilla Ball, all of Athol.

Mr. and Mrs. Seth C. Bassett of Haverhill; Dr. Edward L. Harris of Clinton; Miss Abbie Hopkinson of Groveland; Mrs. Louis Kimball, Mrs. Elizabeth M. Stevens and Miss Bertha M. Stevens, all of Bradford; Miss L. E. Kuhnlee of Pittsfield; Mr. and Mrs. Ira P. Smith of Worcester and Miss Susan True of Amesbury.

OFFER COPY OF JUDGE'S LETTER ON BOOTLEG TRAP

Washington, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—A certified copy of a letter dated Nov. 17, 1926, purporting to have been sent by Federal Judge Frank Cooper of New York to R. Q. Merrick, a prohibition agent, in which was outlined a plan to entrap bootleggers, was read today before the House Judiciary Committee investigating impeachment charges against the judge.

The copy was sworn to as a duplicate of the original letter by Leo A. Regan of the Buffalo prohibition office. The original has disappeared.

REGISTRAR FITZ DEMANDS NEW COURTHOUSE

William T. A. Fitzgerald, registrar of deeds for Suffolk County, speaking at the State House today on proposed legislation for a new Court House, characterized the present quarters at Pemberton square as the "rottenest business building in America."

"If the Suffolk Court House was a private institution it would have been closed by the State authorities long since," he said.

He declared his department had been overcrowded for the last six or seven years. He said an ideal location for his department would be in a building on the opposite side of Somerset street from the present building and connected with it by a tunnel.

Frank W. Grinnell, secretary of the judicial council, spoke of a survey made a year ago which led to recommendations for a new court house supposed to take care of the need of the county for the next fifty years.

He strongly disapproved of locating the building away from the immediate vicinity of the present county headquarters. The separation of two county departments into two buildings and widely separated locations would be a great inconvenience to lawyers and business men of the city, he said.

Arthur W. Sullivan, registrar of probate, said that he had storage space for the needs of his department for only two and one-half years more. He stated that sanitary conditions in the existing structure are deplorable.

Congestion of records of the land court was described by Charles A. Southworth, recorder. He said that there has been a tremendous increase in the business of his department in the past two years.

U. S. EXPECTS FRENCH DEBT OFFER THIS WEEK

Washington, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—It was reiterated today at the treasury that no formal offer has been received from the French Government to make a payment on the unfunded $4,025,000,000 French debt.

Robert Lacour Gayet, French financial representative in this country, has been in conference with Treasury Department officials and a definite offer is expected this week.

URGE AIRPORT IN SUBURB OF WORCESTER

Plans to establish an airport in the immediate vicinity of Worcester were considered at a conference at the Art Club, Newbury street, today, between members of the Worcester Chamber of Commerce and Major Longanecker, air officer of the First Corps Area.

The move is sponsored by Matthew Whittall of Worcester, and the tract selected for the airport is at North Grafton. Whittall recently purchased a three-passenger airplane which he will use for trips to the Cape.

Necessity for the establishment of airports every 30 to 40 miles between Boston and New York, supplementing the main port was stressed by Major Longanecker who visited the proposed site two months ago.

The field could be used by mail planes and for an instruction school, the air officer said today. It would cost about $40,000 to put the land in shape to meet flying requirements.

Mr. Whittall said the field could be used for commercial purposes, especially by the Colonial Air Line, whose planes are soon expected to begin service between Albany and Boston, via Worcester and Springfield.

BUTLER TO LEAD U. S. MARINES IN CHINA

Washington, Feb. 28 (I.N.S.).—Gen. Smedley D. Butler was ordered to Shanghai today to command the U. S. Marine Corps expeditionary forces in China. Today's order follows notification to Gen. Butler several days ago to "hold himself in readiness" for the assignment.

Shanghai, Feb. 28 (I.N.S.).—The International News Service correspondent returned today from Sungkiang, where the opposing Chinese factions are massing for the supreme battle of the Chinese republic's history, with Shanghai as the prize.

The Nationalists are bombarding the entrenched Sun Chuan-Fang lines about four miles beyond Sungkiang, but the main attack has not yet been launched. The main body of Nationalists is coming up from Kashing.

Sun Chuan-Fang's field commanders expect the Cantonese to launch a heavy attack before Wednesday.

MUST FIGHT FOR VICTORY.

"The Nationalists will have to fight for victory instead of buying it as heretofore," General Man Chao-Yoeh, commander of the Sun Chuan-Fang field forces, said. Three additional divisions were sent in, bringing the entrenched forces up to 35,000 men. Two artillery and six machine gun brigades are included in this force.

General Sun Chuan-Fang and General Chang Tsung-Chang, commander of the Shantung forces, hurled by Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, Manchurian war lord, to the aid of Sun in the defense of Shanghai, inspected the northerners' defense works at Sungkiang.

ASSASSINATION FEARED.

The movements of the two are puzzling to the secret service workers of Shanghai municipality. It is believed that both fear assassination.

General Sun has his residence at the Lunghwa Yamen, and at all times has a special train, automobiles and a motorboat standing by for emergency exit. General Chang changed his residence three times last night. Once he appeared disguised as a chauffeur, and another time was dressed in American clothes.

The British transport Minnesota arrived today from England bringing a thousand marines. The men remained on board for the time being.

ST. MARK'S MAY REOPEN DR. GRANT'S OPEN FORUM

New York, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—The open forum conducted by the late Dr. Percy Stickney Grant when he was pastor of the church the Ascension may be reopened at St. Marks-In-The-Bouwerie, Dr. William Norman Guthrie, pastor of St. Marks, announced at memorial services for Dr. Grant in St. Marks.

Before an audience of many of Dr. Grant's parishioners, Dr. Guthrie criticised Bishop William T. Manning, bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of New York, for failing to offer the use of the Ca dral of St. John the Divine for eral services for Dr. Grant an sending a representative to the memorial services.

FAMOUS GHOST SHIP CLAIMS VICTIM

Newport, Feb. 28.—The "Ghost Ship of Narragansett Bay" has taken another victim.

"Captain Jakey" Capron's body is awaiting its interment in Potter's Field today, after Capron and a fellow sailor, Jacob Corkum, lost their lives in the foundering of the barge Luther E. Hoeger, which went down off Point Judith in Saturday's gale. Both bodies were recovered.

The "Ghost Ship" is a small harbor barge, otherwise known as C. C. & B. No. 3, and along the waterfront there is a legend that those who command the little craft will be overtaken with misfortune.

Capron was at one time the skipper of the "Ghost Ship." Another skipper, Captain John Vincent, was found in the cabin of the boat, brutally murdered while the craft was tied up at the Narragansett Lighting Company pier in the bay, about two years ago.

The barge which foundered and took the lives of the two seamen was a part of the two of three coal-ladened barges being taken from New York to Providence by the tug Walker. Captain John Brickhouse of the Walker is making his report of the sinking of the barge and the loss of the two men to the Federal authorities today.

Both men will be buried in Potter's Field, as the authorities have been unable to locate relatives.

State Health Head Calls Cod Liver Oil Best Spring 'Cure'

As a substitute for the old fashioned spring medicine of sulphur and molasses, now claimed to be "out of style," the State Department of Health recommends cod liver oil.

"Cod liver oil is a valuable assistant if you seem to have an overdose of that tired, worn-out feeling," Dr. M. E. Champion of the department said today. "One tablespoon taken every night before bedtime will help to reenforce your resistance and produce results surpassable to those of the ancient remedy."

Aside from the cod liver oil, the doctor remarked, rest is the natural remedy for "spring fever."

'WHAT DO YOU KNOW' PARTIES ARE LATEST

Have you tried the questions in the "What Do You Know" question box, published daily in the editorial page of the Boston Evening American, and one of the most interesting educational problems published.

Today's paper contains the answers to the questions propounded last Saturday, but if you did not see the list of Saturday, seek it before you look over the answers today.

BECOMING POPULAR.

Bridge and dancing parties are being set aside for the new craze of participating in a "What Do You Know" contest, and the fad is becoming popular among the neighborhood visitors.

Some of the active thinkers immediately answered with their versions of last Saturday's questions and the correct answers appear today with a new list.

Try the new stunt and see how successful you are.

FOR FAMILY SESSIONS.

The idea is an educational problem for all readers and family sessions after dinner.

For instance, last Saturday the question was asked about "Feldspar," and many answers were received that it was part of a ship.

"Titian Was a Venetian——" brought many answers that the beauty was a "Bobbed Haired Painter" and others gave Margaret Deland credit for writing "The Iron Hammer."

The location of the "Mural Mountains" and "Zenith" is still a matter of dispute, according to some of those who made a study of the questions.

It is a daily feature, growing in amusement and entertainment, and if you have not grasped the habit do so.

Tomorrow's Boston Evening American will contain answers to the questions of today. So compare your answers with those published and see how near correct you are.

PROFESSOR COPELAND REPORTED IMPROVED

Professor Charles T. Copeland, the beloved "Copey" of generations of Harvard students, is reported "resting comfortably" at Phillips House of the Massachusetts General Hospital, where he was taken suffering from an intestinal disease which may necessitate an operation.

Professor Copeland will be absent from his classes for some weeks, and at the end of the school year will take his Sabbatical year.

MOTHER LEAVES 2 TOTS AT HOME; THEY DIE IN FIRE

Bridgeport, Conn., Feb. 28 (A.P.).—Two children were burned to death in a fire which destroyed a four-room cottage on the outskirts of the city today. They were John, 4, and an infant of 18 months, children of Mr. and Mrs. John Maduch. The children had been left alone in the house while the mother went to a neighbor's for milk.

When Mrs. Maduch saw her home in flames, she rushed back. Neighbors restrained her forcibly from throwing herself into the fire.

P. S.—Nultra Cream—Anne, Don't go home without your jar of Nultra Cold Cream or lose one day of its rebuilding, stimulating treatment.

Massage it in gently, Anne, and let a little linger all night. It sinks in—down below the surface, through the thin layers of skin, cleansing the pores, feeding the tissues, and refilling the tiny sacs which hold the flesh smooth and firm. Yes, Nultra Cold Cream is a splendid food for your skin. And for that last touch of delight, what can be better than Nultrafluer, the little bottle of double concentrated perfume, distilled from the most fragrant flowers that grow? Both, you know, are carried by Conrad's, on Winter street; the Cream at $1.00 and the perfume at the same price.

Faithfully yours,
PRISCILLA.

You will find anything from a coal range to a complete outfit in today's Classified Ads. Classification 110.

Shopping with Priscilla Price

Dear Anne:

Supposing we start today's shopping tour with a stroll down Tremont Street, to a new shop that specializes in

Hats

It's the New York Millinery Shop at 233 Tremont Street, opposite the Metropolitan Theatre. A big roomy shop, rich in artistic drapes on many shining mirrors—and hats. Un—those hats! Visions of winsome creations in straw, viscas, felts, silks and ribbon—combined and recombined, one with the other until they become little gems of ultra style. And are they becoming? Well, when a bit of faille ribbon and soft petaline nestles down over your hair and blends itself with every line in the contour of your face, its becoming, more than becoming. And that's what happens with the hats at the New York Millinery Shop.

And Then

I want to go around with you to the Naturaline Corset Company, on the 4th floor of the Lawrence Building, 149 Tremont Street, to see the newest Spring supports. They are as dainty as a piece of lovely lingerie and as practical as science can make them. Swami cloth — clever hooks on the side —boning concealed beneath, new shoulder straps which unbutton for laundering. Corsets that aren't corsets for those who need extra support; fairy-like silken confections for girls who want to wear something—but not much: wraparounds and one-piece garments. And the prices are not high. In fact, they have one splendid corselette of fine brocade, with hidden boning and superb lines, for $2.95, and that's a good example.

Silver's Specialty Shop

Comes next on the list, for they have a gorgeous display of new Spring dresses at $12.75. So up we go to room 302 of the Blake Building, 59 Temple Place, and gaze with rapture at sports clothes in Kasha, business clothes in flat crepe, frost crepe and dark crepe de chine; afternoon frocks and tea-time dresses in light elusive shades and stunning southern wear. I marked to $13.75 for a few days. I want you to see the rose flat crepe embroidered in soft wools; the dainty georgette touched with silver, the green and natural Kasha and above all a certain dress of wonderful white crepe, most beautifully embroidered in black.

And While

We're striking such splendid luck, we'd best go over to Landfield's (8 Winter Street), for some hosiery to match. This week's offering to Priscilla's friends is as remarkable as the others. But different. For we're going up into the realms of delicate chiffon, as sheer and filmy as the web which drifts down upon the dewy grass. Three-strand chiffon—all silk from toe to top, $3.00 and $4.50 chiffon at $1.95 a pair. Triple reinforced, full fashioned and long. In all shades, even the gun metal with the black heel, which now rides on the crest of fashion. But there are only 500 pairs of them, so beware of delay.

Barbara Took

The Hilda Lee toilet preparations away with her into the mountains, and her skin is like a baby's. Each night she cleansed it most scrupulously with the Hilda Lee White Orchid Cleansing Cream, patting it gently into the pores, and then removed with soft tissues. Then she dabbed it briskly with a soft sponge moistened with the Cuticle Astringent Tonic—an excellent lotion to keep the contour of the face firm and rounded—and finished off with the famous Bed Time Tissue Cream. This is a splendid basic treatment for us all, for the Hilda Lee preparations are absolutely pure and wholesome. You'll find them at T. D. Whitney's, 37 Temple Place—the Cleansing Cream at $1; the Tissue Cream at $1.50, and the Hilda Lee Cuticle Astringent Tonic at $1.00.

Violets Are In Their Prime

At Penn's, the Florist (124 Tremont Street), and violets are nature's recompense to us for the month of February. You slip into Penn's, out of the slush and rain on the street, eager for a glimpse of the flowers. You see great bunches of fragrant, friendly violets, nestling their purple heads together in silent communion—modest, shy, but infinitely beautiful. And you want them. You want to buy them, bring them home to your living room and there bury your face in their cool loveliness. You want to send them to your friends, to those who are shut in, sorrowing or ill. For violets bring a touch of understanding, a sense of comradeship, and seem strangely akin to the humble joys and tragedies of man. And when you've placed your order ($1.50 for a big, generous bunch) you become aware that the whole shop is abloom with Spring. Tulips standing straight and tall in their pretty pots; frail, delicate Fleur-de-Lis, the little Roman Anemone—that quaint, old-fashioned bit of beauty, and the brilliant orange Chorizema. Great baskets of assorted Spring flowers radiate a message of warm sunlight soon to come and wee pushing plants waiting 'neath the old brown earth. Yes, it's there—all there. No matter how dull and dismal these days may be, Spring is on its way, and you'll find her heralds in glad array at Penn's. The baskets of assorted flowers, by the way, come from $1.50 up.

But What About Undies?

Yes, what about the latest exquisite pink and peach confections which fashion has devised for our delight and comfort? Of course you want to see these too, especially since the Spring crop has "burbanked" into some absolutely new creations. Well—here's the latest on undies. At Filene's, at the street floor underwear department, I found a vest of the softest, finest glove silk, which fills the double service of brassiere and vest. The top is shaped to fit snugly, with a ribbon running up and down directly in front to draw it as tightly as desired; and that is all the draw string there is. It costs but $1.65 and comes in peach and pink—a beautiful garment which has struck a popular appeal already. Should you want to order by mail or phone, be sure and give the exact bust measure, for the length and width are designed in ample proportions.

Another lovely piece of feminine fluff is a rayon combination at $2.00 wherein the vest descends below the waist line and then blossoms out into perfectly lovely French panties, like great butterfly wings; short circular, cool, and comfortable, and very, very smart—truly the most beautiful garments ever designed, I do believe. And they assure me that the same model is coming in soon with the bloomer leg as well as in this style. Oh, but Anne, there are more, lots more, adorable and dainty garments to be seen there at Filene's, before you take the final plunge into Spring underwear. These are but two of them, although they are the two which I knew would interest you most.

It's Full Tide

With Holeproof Hosiery at Talbot's, 395 Washington Street. More than full tide, a flood tide—for all the new colors have come, in all the grades and sizes, and whatever it is you want, there you'll certainly find it. But something whispers in my ear—something which recalls your unerring taste and sense of thrift—that you're going to be drawn straight to the newest shipment of $1.00 hosiery. For where else can one buy the quality, the delicate coloring, the lustrous lengths of silky sheen, and the feeling of choice aristocracy that we get in Holeproof for $1.00 a pair? backed as it is with a reputation of long wear and glorious service?

And these new stockings, so beautifully reinforced, so carefully made, of such pure long-strand silk, each strand stronger than its equal strand of steel, and fashioned into the latest length, with silk way over the knee—these new stockings are such a superb value. As for the colors—well, there's Petale, Delis, Lalour, Valerie, Yvonne and Fleur-de-Lis; the most exquisite shades Lucille, with all Parisian art at her disposal, could create. My dear, they are lovely, the delicate rose tint of Petale, the silver gray of Delis, the honey gold of Yvonne; Valerie the delicate wine, Fleur-de-Lis of lustrous tan, and Lalour, the substitute for black. Whatever the colortone of your costume, you'll find its perfect complement in "Holeproof." In both chiffon and the service weight, for $1.00 a pair at Talbot's, 395 Washington Street.

Ruth Redecorated

Her room in old blue, and has given us the most beautiful example of what a woman can do with a little money if she shops wisely. Picture her windows framed in creamy voile draperies, all five pieces ruffled on the ruffles with delicate blue edged with gold. Then imagine a large blue rug of braided yarn in the centre of the room, with a smaller one by the door, and a wonderfully silky rayon damask bed spread on the big double bed. At the Seasonal Sales Store, 54 Chauncy street, those curtains cost her just $2.89 a pair, valance and tie backs included ($5.78 for the two), the rugs were $1.98 for the larger, $1.39 for the smaller, and the spread was but $3.89; a total cost of $15.04. But as she says, one must go to the Seasonal Sales Store for values like that.

But We Haven't

Been up to see the new hats at the Page Hat Shop (Room 15 at 37 Temple Place) and we aren't going one step further until I've shown you hats that are hats and stand very high in the millinery world. Page hats are quality hats, at popular prices—individual, distinctive hats, marked around $9.50, $10.50, $12.50 and $15. Hats that make an instant appeal to the smart, conservative person who appreciates the value of line and the inner secrets of style; the young matron, the college girl as well as the older woman finds here a hat of rare distinction. In satin, grosgrain ribbon, crocheted viscas, felt or straw and all the lovely combinations of today. Yes, we'll now go to the Page Hat Shop, at 37 Temple Place.

'Anne— Oh, Anne—

Jean Brown has come into the picture again with another of her gorgeous values. Jean Brown, of Paris and Boston, whose hats need no label to identify them, for every woman knows there's no hat like a Jean Brown hat. She's making a general price of $10 (a few at $15) on the majority of her stunning creations. And, my dear, she has everything — absolutely everything, for everyone and every costume. Exclusive models which send the years flying from the matron, smart hats for debutante daughters, street-hats, sport-hats, tea-hats, dinner-hats, seaside-hats, mountain-hats and hats for foreign travel. And there's no doubt about it—your costume's made when crowned by a Jean Brown hat. You'll find her shop on the fourth floor of the Little Building, 80 Boylston street.

Mae Callaghan

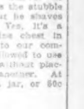
Is having a sale of dresses this week—a sale we want to take in. You know her lovely little shop down in the Park Square Building, 31 St. James Avenue, for we've been there innumerable times when in quest of a dress. She has taken thirty-five of her prettiest models and made a special price on them of $13.50. Sport flannels, rayo twills, rayo rep and silver haze. Silks and georgettes in all the charming modes of the season and a few exquisite little gowns for full evening wear. This makes a splendid opportunity, a really marvelous opportunity, to indulge in one more darling dress at an absurdly low price. And as you know, every one of Mae Callaghan's models is a lovely little gem, as distinctive and individual as it's possible to be.

A New Cream

Has come to take the place of honor of the family shelf. Wonder Balm, the jar of healing—full of cunning, soft, transparent jelly with a delicate, pungent fragrance. A jelly endowed with marvelous properties for whitening the hands and keeping them in beautiful condition; for healing chapped and irritated flesh and drawing the heat from burns. And—marvel of marvels, it so softens the stubble on a man's chin that he shaves without profanity. Yes, it's a regular little medicine chest in itself and so vital to our comfort that no one is allowed to use the last of our jar without placing an order for another. At Filene's, for $1.00 a jar, or 50c for the half size.

Sleep—Blessed Sleep

And oh, what a sweet, deep sleep is brought to us from the forest slopes of Switzerland in the form of the Swiss Pine Bath—Lacpinin Balsam, it is called. Just one dessert spoonful in a moderately hot bath and the pungent fragrance of it seeps into your senses, the soothing oils caress and quiet every surface nerve; muscles let go, pores open and the poisons of fatigue pour out. And then you are rested, content, dreaming drowsily of hidden pools in the old pine grove, where trout lurked deep 'neath the balsam shadows and the night brings the sleep of pure health to you. If you haven't experienced this pleasure, go to Meyer Jonasson's and get a $2.00 bottle. It's worth its weight in gold.



'And Evelyn

Has come from New York with a new collection of treasures that have made my cup of happiness complete. Ten or more different styles—and each style in the latest colors; And Evelyn, the perfect dear, is going to let us have them for $15 straight — dainty creations in georgette of ruffles and tucks, with touches of silken embroidery; super-fine corded flat crepes (black, blue and rose) with draping that's grace itself; new models in black and white; heavy georgette with scarf collars of Surah plaid, and the brilliant goyia reds. Beautiful, beautiful things. She has repleted her racks of $8.95 and $12.95 dresses, too, and the busy little shop is humming with happy folk all day long. (Evelyn's, 3rd floor, 8 Winter street.)

The Bob—My Dear

Will it ever go out? No, not as long as a girl can go to Mertin's Beauty Salon, (3rd floor, Dexter Building, 453 Washington street) and get a cut from Lantagne or Harri, which makes her into a little fashion plate straight from Vogue. They've got the secret, Anne. They've learned the Parisian method of clipping, molding, shaping and training a girl's hair into a soft, silky mass of sheer beauty. Have you ever seen them create the latest cuts—the Wind-blown bob, Lido Split, Butterfly Swirl or the Ritz Full bob, or shape a cut as a sculptor molds his clay? No? Then you've never seen beauty developed before your eyes in a scientific beauty salon, and I advise you to seek the fair Goddess behind the Spanish gates at Mertin's.

February Is Going

Winter has gone, and the years roll by. But they'll leave no trace on your beautiful skin if you keep Virozol on your dresser and use it faithfully day by day. Five minutes with Virozol Swedish Face Bath banishes the dust and dirt of the day, wipes away those tiny, troublesome wrinkles and leaves the face so soft, so cool and so clean that it's like a fresh, dewy flower with the first rays of sun upon it. But the best results come from using Virozol Almond Cream with it, for the two together make the complete treatment. You can get it at D. R. Emerson's, on Temple Place, the Face Bath for $1.25 and the cream for $1.00.

Faithfully yours,

Priscilla

An Egg-Nog to Tempt Invalid

This Recipe Will Nourish the Sick Person Besides Arousing Appetite

PINEAPPLE egg-nog is a delightful drink to tempt as well as nourish the invalid. To make it, beat the yolk of one egg slightly and add one-eighth teaspoon of salt, one-half teaspoon powdered sugar and one-half a cup of syrup drained from a can of pineapple.

Fold in one-half of the egg white, stiffly beaten, and when well mixed pour into a glass. Heap remainder of egg white on top and sprinkle with nutmeg. This drink can also be made hot by heating the pineapple juice.

Because pineapple contains bromelin which acts as a powerful aid to digestion, this drink is extremely beneficial besides being tempting and dainty.

Here is another good recipe, but not for invalids:

Toasted cocoanut cake—1½ cups sugar, ¾ cup butter or substitute, 3 eggs, 1 cup water, 3 cups cake flour, 2 taespoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon almond extract.

Sift flour, measure, add baking powder and sift two or three times.

Cream the shortening. Add the sugar gradually, creaming until light and fluffy. Add the eggs unbeaten, one at a time, beating batter hard after addition of each egg. Add water and dry ingredients alternately. Add flavoring.

Bake in three layers in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) for 25 minutes.

Put layers together with a white cooked or uncooked icing and cover with toasted cocoanut.

To toast the cocoanut for this cake, spread desiccated cocoanut evenly in a pan and place in a very hot oven, stirring frequently. When browned, break it up into fine pieces and sprinkle over the top and sides of the cake.

Full Directions for the Home Nurse in Building Up Patient's Health

CREOLE EGGS—6 eggs, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 medium-sized onion, 1 cup canned tomato, 1 green pepper, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 cups boiled rice.

Melt the butter in a saucepan, add the chopped onion and green pepper, cook until soft, but not brown; then add the strained canned tomatoes and salt. Place the eggs in a saucepan, cover with boiling water and cook for 15 minutes. Do not let water boil. Remove the shells. Cut eggs into eighths, put in a serving dish and pour over the sauce. Heap the rice at the ends of the dish. Serve very hot.

Apple Delight

WASH and core six tart apples. Place them in a casserole and fill the cavities with a mixture of ¼ cup chopped dates, ½ cup chopped nut meats and add ½ cup of honey.

Pour an additional 1½ cups of honey over the apples and bake tightly covered for 40 minutes. Remove the cover and bake until tender, basting with syrup. Serve hot or cold with cream.

Spoons Keep Things From Boiling Quickly

When cooking, do not leave a spoon in anything that you want to boil quickly, because a spoon conducts the heat away from the liquid.

Coffee Mousse Is Delicious

ONE of our readers has sent us this dessert, which may be frozen in an electric refrigerator or in a mould packed in ice and salt for three or four hours. We tried it out in the kitchen. Everyone looked as though they would like to be urged to have a second helping.

Mix together the yolks of three eggs, ½ cup of very strong coffee and ½ cup of sugar. Cook in a double boiler until thick like a custard, stirring frequently. When cool add 1 pint of whipped cream and the whites of 2 eggs, beaten very stiff. Also ½ cup of walnut meats, chopped very fine. Beat thoroughly and pour in freezing compartment of refrigerator or in mould.

Wherever jam and children get together

Jack and Jill, hook and eye, ham and eggs, jam and children—you can't keep these pairs apart.

Since jam is very, very sweet and children are very, very hospitable to themselves, you want these two to get together on the best possible basis. That is Sunshine Krispy Crackers.

Each one of these tenderly crisp squares is a tiny storehouse of energy-giving calories. Would you believe it — they contain more caloric fuel value per pound than white bread —lots more!

THE WORLD'S FAVORITE

FRUITS ARE COMBINED in a delicious fruit salad mixture. For breakfast fruit, luncheon salad or dessert or as sauce for ice cream. 25c a can. A real health investment.

TIME WAS when Bar le Duc Jelly was the special prerogative of kings and queens. Today You, Us & Company can purchase it for 29c a jar. Try it dotted over a cream cheese sandwich or on crackers for afternoon tea. Stamps you as the hostess who knows what's what in good foods.

HAND-MADE PRETZELS are something new in the cracker family. 29c for a big package. The new, smart accompaniment for salads. A good between-meal or bed-time bite with a glass of ginger ale. Wholesome. Just salt enough.

DO YOU PINE for the real old-fashioned pickles that you thought were gone, but not forgotten? I've discovered them—a big 16-oz. jar for 23c. Yum, yum!

WHEN YOU ARE READY to try my Cherry Royale, choose the extra good cherries that sell for 35c a great big tin. Sandwiched between a layer of lemon and raspberry jelly, topped with whipped cream, they make the best-ever dessert.

WHY NOT A LOGANBERRY SHORTCAKE for next Sunday's dinner? Luscious loganberries are 37c a big can. Extra good in jellies, as cake fillings and in beverages.

THE MEASLEY MOTH is with us again. Drive him out with a harmless killer. Clean, safe and reliable. Can't injure furs, wools or the most delicate fabrics. 23c invested now may save many dollars later.

AT LAST SOMETHING NEW and different from the old-fashioned ammonia. The new kind is extra strong but not so suffocating. Cleans, purifies and removes germs and objectionable odors. A ten cent bottle goes far.

WHY FUSS WITH LEMON AND SALT when certain soap removes iron rust stains instantly. Absolutely will not harm the fabric. Good for fruit stains, mildew, everything in fact except ink.

SPEAKING OF SOAPS do you know an extra hard pure hand soap is only fifteen cents for two generous cakes? One for the bathroom and one for the kitchen. Makes a fluffy lather which insures skin health. Delicately scented. Economical. Safe enough for the most delicate skin. A mighty good everyday hand soap.

LISTEN, DEAR LADIES to what may sound like a fairy tale to you. A half-pint can of a brand new enamel will cover a breakfast set of table and four chairs, made on rubber base. Never shows a brush mark. Dries overnight. Pour boiling water over it and no damage done. Lovely high lustre.

IF YOU'RE INTERESTED in beautifying your home do let me send you a free book of beautifully illustrated suggestions for home furnishing and decorating. Samples of the loveliest ever wall papers at the lowest ever prices, too, and a chart for estimating the number of rolls needed for any room. You'll spend interesting hours with this literature. I did.

DON'T FORGET that there are daily chats on Spring cleaning helps and generous samples of all sorts of cleaners at the Martha Lee Kitchen, 92 Summer Street at 11 A. M. and 2 P. M. daily all this week.

ALL YOU NEED to do to get full information on the where and how much of all these items is to check the column and send it to me with loose two-cent stamp and your full name and address. Don't forget that all-important name, will you?

Faithfully yours,

Martha Lee

Don't Kill the Plants

MORE house plants, a famous horticulturist tells me, die from over-watering than from lack of water.

Looking back over a series of generously watered and now totally defunct plants of my own, I believe that this is true. The soil should have a chance to dry out before you pour on more water. If the water runs quickly through the pot into the saucer it shows that the plant is already wet enough. The water absorption should be slow.

Remember that it is harder for nature to produce flowers than to produce leaves. If you have a flowering plant which blossoms irregularly and sparsely, a good plant food applied regularly will help to bring out more and fuller flowers.

Handy Tips on Buying

ARE you still eating your apple a day? Excellent Baldwins for eating are selling at three pounds for 25c at the retail markets and cooking apples are as low as eight pounds for a quarter.

Strawberries are with us again after a period of scarcity and are 75c a quart. Next Sunday's shortcake will set you back about 20c a serving.

Beet greens are arriving on the market and rhubarb is another Spring item.

Fresh haddock, cod and flounder are all low-priced and so is finnan haddie. (Ever send for my finnan haddie recipes? They do tell me that they're extra specially good.)

Fresh filet of sole with its delicate flavor and tenderness and shorn of all bones, is about 25c a pound.

There is but little change in meat prices this week. Fresh chicken, fowl and poultry are moderately priced.

Noted Chef's Recipe

WE had a visitor at the Martha Lee Kitchen the other day, Camille Den Dooven, former chef to the King of the Belgians. He brought us some especially delicious chocolate recipes and among them was this simple but very delicate:

CHOCOLATE SOFT CUSTARD—1 pint of milk, 4 ozs. sweet chocolate, 3 eggs, 1 cup sugar, ½ cup bread flour, 1 tsp. vanilla.

Bring to a boil 1 pint of milk with 4 ozs. of sweet chocolate in a double-boiler. Mix together 3 eggs, 1 cup of sugar, a little less than ½ cup of bread flour, and 1 teaspoonful of vanilla extract. Then mix the chocolate milk with the egg mixture, and let boil together, stirring constantly to prevent burning.

When cold, serve with whipped cream or a meringue. If served hot, place on a piece of sponge or layer cake.

English Way to Cook Fresh Pork

Bake at Least Two Hours in Moderate Oven; Serve With Turnips

MRS. ELIZABETH MURRAY of Althea Place, Westerly, R. I., asked us to try her recipe for "Dobbins," an English method of cooking fresh pork. We did that little thing, with such good results that we are passing the recipe along to you.

Into a large baking bowl or pan, deep and not too wide, slice a medium onion and sprinkle over with pepper and salt. Next arrange a layer of pork chops, more pepper and salt and a pinch of poultry dressing and one tablespoon of flour sprinkled on.

On top of the chops lay medium sized peeled potatoes or large ones cut in halves. Pour on enough boiling water to cover all but the top two inches of the potatoes. This should be left out to brown.

Bake at least two hours in a moderate oven and serve with mashed turnips.

How to Make Pea Soup When Callers Suddenly Arrive on Scene

Some chilly day that seems especially made for pea soup, but when there isn't time to give the dry peas the necessary soaking, why not try emergency pea soup made from canned peas?

It's really extremely good and easily and quickly made. Drain the liquid from one can of peas and cook them twenty minutes with one teaspoon of sugar, two cups of cold water and one thin slice of onion.

Then rub through a coarse sieve, getting out all the pulp possible. Melt two tablespoons of butter and add to it two tablespoons of flour. When smooth, pour in slowly two cups of scalding hot milk.

Stir until it boils, blend with the pea puree and season with one teaspoon of salt, one-eighth teaspoon of pepper and one teaspoon of finely minced parsley. Serve in bouillon cups with oyster crackerettes.

Did you ever know of anyone who a really good gingerbread recipe other hand, was entirely satisfied with their recipe for it?

So many requests come to me for a really good gingerbread recipe that I think I'd better share with you one which a friend of mine calls "the best gingerbread on earth."

Sift together 2½ cups of flour and a teaspoon of cinnamon and ginger.

Cream together a half cup each of butter and sugar, then add 1 cup of molasses and 2 level teaspoons of soda dissolved in a little hot water. Then add the yolks of 2 eggs slightly beaten. Measure 1 cup boiling water and add it a little at a time, alternately with the flour mixture. Beat the writes of the eggs stiff, but not dry, and add last. Bake in a moderate oven.

Salmon Salad

A QUICK and delicious salad may be made by breaking into pieces the contents of one can of red salmon, after bones, skin and oil have been removed.

Moisten with vinegar, dilute to taste, adding chopped dill pickle, hard-boiled eggs and olives in any quantity and one small can of green peas.

Garnish with whole olives, slices of egg or strips of dill pickle and serve very cold.

Dollar Day Coming

PRISCILLA PRICE Dollar Day items appear again on Friday, March 4, offering another opportunity to pick up linens, hosiery, luxuries and necessities at the surprising price of $1.

In and out among the shops Priscilla has gone in her search for beautiful bargains and best buys; manufacturers and retailers have cooperated to give her splendid merchandise, and it promises a bigger success than before. So watch and wait, look and listen for the next Priscilla Price Dollar Day, Friday, March 4.

Hints for Making the Menu Attractive

Trim a bunch of celery, shred finely, place in a style salad bowl, season with salt, pepper and a tablespoon each of oil and vinegar and add several sprigs of water cress.

Rub a salad bowl with a new onion. Place crisp leaves of romaine in it. Make a dressing of one hardboiled egg mashed as finely as possible with a fork, a little paprika, salt, mustard, chopped olives and one tablespoon of oil and one of vinegar. Add to the romaine, toss and serve.

Scald Pineapple to Combine With Jelly

For ice cream, sherberts, water ices, etc., use one level teaspoonful of gelatine for each quart of liquid, or three ounces for each ten gallons.

For making one quart of jelly, use two level tablespoons gelatine.

Whenever pineapple is to be combined with gelatine, always first scald the pineapple, both fruit and juice, or jelly will not stiffen.

A new taste thrill!

This cooking secret gives food fresh zest and flavor

HERE'S a seasoning secret that gives everyday foods a different, altogether delicious flavor. And it's as easy as can be!

Before cooking meats—steak or chops, ham, roasts of any kind—spread both sides with a generous layer of Gulden's Mustard. Then place on the fire or in the oven.

In cooking vegetables, add the golden drops of Gulden's before serving. Mix in sauces, soups, gravies. Flavor? Foods seasoned in cooking this way have an appetite-arousing flavor that makes them a glorious treat!

Gulden's is made from the sun-ripened kernels of the world's finest mustard seeds, blended with delicate spices. It's zestful, but not harsh or biting. Only in Gulden's do you get this perfect blending of rich, mellow spices with the lively little mustard seed. This is why it's the one complete seasoner for cooking. It comes to you, all ready to use. And it's absolutely pure!

53 recipes with a new taste-thrill—FREE

IN OUR booklet, "Seasoning Secrets for Home Cooking," well-known cooking experts give new recipes for 53 appetizing dishes. Write today for free copy, Charles Gulden, Inc., Dept. N 48 Elizabeth Street, New York City.

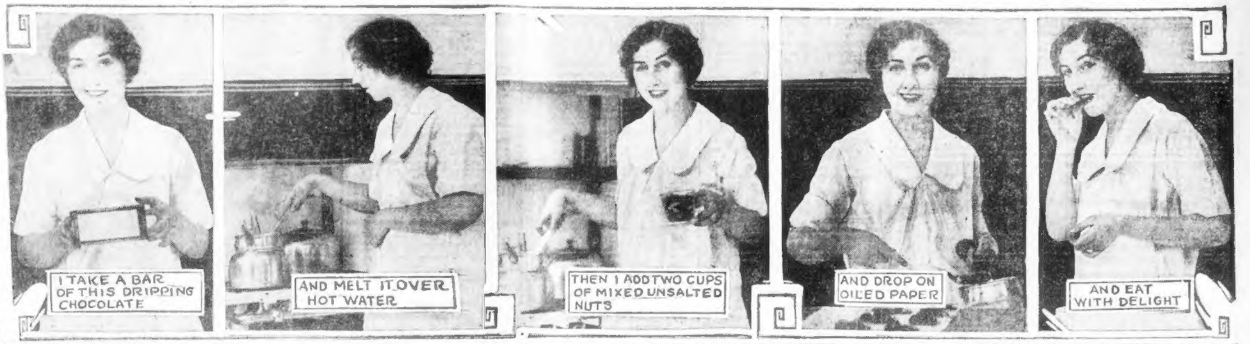
TO HOUSEWIVES

Delicious Home-Made Chocolate Nut Patties Are Easy to Make Anytime



I TAKE A BAR OF THIS DRIPPING CHOCOLATE
AND MELT IT OVER HOT WATER
THEN I ADD TWO CUPS OF MIXED UNSALTED NUTS
AND DROP ON OILED PAPER
AND EAT WITH DELIGHT

Certain to Succeed

FOR an extra full measure of nutrition and deliciousness, commend me to chocolate nut patties. The beauty of them is that the equal of the most expensive professional candy shop patties can be made right in your own kitchen in just about two shakes of a lamb's tail.

They may be made of the ever-economical and popular shelled and skinned peanuts or from the mixed nuts. All you need is a cake of the sweet chocolate that comes especially for candy-dipping. Melt this in the top of the double boiler or in an ordinary saucepan, if you will watch it with an eagle eye.

Drop in the nuts. You can use from two to three cups of nuts to one bar of chocolate. Stir until coated and drop by spoonfuls into small patties on oiled paper or right on your porcelain top kitchen work table if you're fortunate enough to own one.

When cool and firm, set away in the ice chest to crisp. Serve on paper doilies. Then throw calorie scruples to the wind for a few happy moments and enjoy the candy feast you've been hungering for.

You can make up for your orgy by devoting next day to a strictly fresh fruit and vegetable diet.

How to Make Economical Lemon Jelly Dessert

To make an economical lemon jelly: Wash lemons and squeeze out the juice. Take out the seeds and place lemon skins in cold water and boil. Use this water instead of the plain hot water when dissolving the gelatine which has been soaked in cold water. This gives the jelly a much stronger lemon flavor and fewer lemons need be used.

Left-over jelly or jellies which have melted may be again reduced to a liquid and remodeled.

Cook Liver Right Way

IT pleases me most to pieces to find that the humble liver is at last coming into its own.

I've always had to cook my favorite liver and bacon dish on a day when the family was not among those present, and even then they would sniff critically hours later at the imaginary odor.

Now, however, my jelly fish backbone is bolstered up by the edicts of some of our best physicians that liver is one of our most valuable meats. Indeed, they're using it very successfully as a most important part of the diet for anaemics.

So I'll offer no apology for this recipe for rice and liver loaf. It combines all the virtues of economy and nutrition and I've a suspicion it will make many a convert.

In an old-fashioned chopping bowl and with an old-fashioned chopping knife, chop one pound of liver (common garden variety of beef liver will do quite as well as calf's) and cook in three tablespoons of bacon fat in a sauce pan until brown. Add one tablespoon of grated onion, one teaspoon of salt, one tablespoon of finely chopped sweet pepper and one teaspoon of celery salt. Stir until heated through.

Add one cup of water or stock, cover and cook for five minutes. Drain off the liquid, mix the seasoned meat with a big cup of cooked rice; thicken the liquid with two tablespoons of flour rubber smooth in a little water and stir over the gas flame until it boils.

Add a teaspoon of Worcester sauce, mix with the meat and shape into a loaf and bake in a greased, paper-lined bread pan until brown on top. Extra rice, bread crumbs or mashed potato can be added to this mixture if it seems too soft to mold.

Helpful Home Tips

All dyes should be strained through muslin before being added to the water.

Paraffin applied to windows will make them clear as crystal.

A brilliant polish will be given to glassware by adding a little vinegar to the rinsing water.

Enameled pans can be thoroughly cleaned by scouring with crushed egg-shells and soapy water.

Varnished paint or enamel can be effectively cleaned with a weak solution of vinegar and water.

Linoleum will not crack if cleaned with oil and vinegar in equal parts.

Sour milk will often remove iron rust from white fabrics.

To prevent pickled cabbage from turning blue, place a lump of sugar in the jar before the vinegar is poured on.

Aspidistras will take on a new lease of life if a little silver sand is put into the flower pot. Water the plants well after adding it, so that the sand is carried to the roots.

Cook spinach, sieved or chopped, with a little fried onion and grated cheese added to it. Make the whole thoroughly hot and serve with a garnish of boiled macaroni.

Stuff vegetable marrow with veal forcemeat, savory lentils, etc.

Mildew on linen can be removed by damping the marks, rubbing soap on them, and covering with chalk scraped into a powder. Work this well in, and then wash the linen in the ordinary way.

To prevent a cake from becoming heavy, when taken out of the oven it should be put on a wire meat stand to allow the steam to escape.

Crushed Pineapple Is Good on French Toast

For breakfast French toast topped with crushed pineapple and powdered sugar is delicious. Sliced pineapple browned in butter is delicious served with fried or roast ham, lamb or pork chops.

Giving Tea to Friends

IF you're one of those women who feel an inner urge for a good cup of tea along the middle of the afternoon, why not make it a neighborhood affair and invite a friend or two in to share it with you?

If you want to make it a real party, serve with the tea lump sugar which has been rubbed on an orange or lemon rind until colored and flavored. A tablespoon of crushed pineapple in each cup transforms the common garden variety of tea into the best product of Russia.

A few slices of cinnamon toast will appease that mid-afternoon appetite without encroaching too heavily on your calorie count. It's especially delicious made thusly: Cream three tablespoons of butter and add two tablespoons of brown sugar and one teaspoon cinnamon.

Toast thinly sliced stale bread on one side. Spread the untoasted side with the cinnamon mixture and sprinkle with finely chopped walnut meats. Put in the oven until the sugar melts and serve at once.

For Variety Try This

HERE'S a pleasing variation from the time-honored roast leg of lamb. Have your butcher remove the bone, leaving the leg on, from a shoulder cut of lamb. Lay the shoulder open. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and stuff with your favorite bread stuffing. Spread 2½ tablespoons of prepared mustard over the shoulder.

Let dry, then cover with drippings. The mustard will give a delicious flavor to the meat. In your self-basting roaster, melt four tablespoons of drippings and add one finely chopped onion.

Put in the lamb and add two cups of hot water, cover and bake slowly one and one-half hours. Then remove the cover, increase the heat and roast another half hour basting once or twice if necessary.

Make a gravy in the pan adding if convenient a few mint leaves.

Melted Ice Cream May Be Saved With Gelatine

Melted ice cream may be stiffened with gelatine for a molded dessert. Allow a level tablespoon of gelatine to a pint of the cream, first softening it in a little of the cold cream, dissolving it over hot water, then adding the melted gelatine to the rest of the cream.

Always soak gelatine in cold water and dissolve in hot liquid or over hot water.

Points to Remember in Making of Jelly

Utilize any left-over fruit juice, coffee or cocoa for gelatine jellies, substituting it for part of the liquid specified in a recipe.

For a delicious vegetable salad, make a tart lemon and mould in various vegetables.

A tablespoonful of gelatine added to a thin soup stock, will make a thick soup. Soften the gelatine in a little of the cold stock and dissolve in the hot stock.

A plain lemon jelly may be cut into cubes and mixed with fresh vegetables or fruits for a salad.

The most amazing success in the history of household soap

Chipso QUICK SUDS

Soaks clothes clean

WASHBOARD-rubbing means friction—wearing down—tearing down—grating away the fibre of your clothes! One wash board rubbing is harder on them than ten days of ordinary wear.

You who use the washboard—

You don't grate your clothes because you like to. You don't rub aches into your back because you like them. But your ideals of cleanliness are high, so you keep to the hard way because it seems the only sure way!

There is an easy sure way, too!

Chipso proves itself before your eyes. Here is what you do to get Chipso results:

Pour Chipso's clean thin soap flakes into the tub. Run hot water over them. They dissolve instantly in bounteous suds. (No soap chipping or preparation of soap powders). Cool the water to hand temperature. Plunge the clothes in—and forget them for twenty minutes—or more if you like—while you do some morning task. When you come back, the buoyant suds have done the work. They have loosened the dirt! Squeeze the sudsy water through the clothes a few times; rub the bad spots lightly between your hands, and you are through! And your clothes are as clean and sweet-scented as you've ever had!

The blue-and-orange boxes of Chipso are big and cost little. The large one contains enough soap for 6 to 8 washings—at a cost of 3¢ to 4¢ each.

RADIO DIALOG

By C. WILLIAM RADOS

WITH WBET transmitting tonight for its inaugural broadcast, a new era in increased competition will be started. Only desirable results are expected and for the listening public it will mean more programs to choose from for the evening's entertainment.

Very plainly has Boston [illegible] bettered in the last year. The stations now are unable to give time to all who apply. So they pick the best of the commercial broadcasts and are somewhat particular in accepting high-grade talent only.

This reacts very favorably in all ways. Boston is still free from the radio congestion which must tire listeners in many other large cities.

Nine hundred persons are confidently expecting President Coolidge to appoint them to the radio commission. There are 732 broadcasters in the States.

Five men are to be picked for the commission. All the lame ducks are hopefully hoping around in anxious desire to be awarded a golden crutch.

It must be very hard on the nervous portions of their cerebral corpuscles. Ten thousand dollars for the year's work is a very pleasant income. But the President is attempting to choose men whose knowledge of radio law and the international situation, combined with keen vision, will make up a board which can settle the radio problems.

The readers of the Evening American who so generously responded to the radio campaign by filling out interference coupons can feel proud in that they did their share. There is not the slightest doubt that without the wholehearted co-operation of American readers with the listeners all over the country the radio bill would not have passed.

* * *

Reception for Sunday night was as good as we have ever had. The full list of station calls as told us by the announcers is: WJZ, WMCA, WPG, KDKA, WRNY, WGY, CKCX, WSM, WGN, WABQ, WCAU, WABS, WSAI, WJR, WWAE, WMBB, WEAF. Many others, fully as strong and steady, were not identified because of lack of time. Heterodyning was not very bothersome. Stations on all wavelengths and in all parts of the country were equally strong.

Tuning in WJZ promptly at seven we settled back for a pleasant evening. But the women soloist and the organ faded in and out mostly out, for fifteen minutes. The fading was slow and never entirely complete but after 7:15 WJZ was very strong and fairly steady for the rest of the evening.

We particularly enjoyed the singing of the Elk's Male Quartette. They sang "Bells of Saint Mary," "In the Garden of Tomorrow" and "Lead Kindly Light." The entire program was soothing and reverential as befits a Sunday evening.

Dorchester correspondent Miss N. C. J. reports that Saturday evening the out-of-town stations were coming through well. We agree with her as before six we had WNJ of New Jersey in well enough to enjoy the orchestra. A few other stations were also audible at that time although as the evening grew older the usual good reception occurred.

* * *

New stations picked up last night for the first time for many weeks were CKCX, Toronto; WABQ, Philadelphia; WBAS, announced as Eastern Pennsylvania; WWAE, Chicago; WMBB, Chicago and WSM, Nashville. These stations were all coming through very strongly and steadily.

* * *

Our heavy duty B batteries are a year and [illegible] weeks old. They apparently are still working.

WSAI was broadcasting from New York CITY, a talk by Miss Anna Morgan of the American Women's Association.

WJR had a sales talk from Buffalo.

WCAU was sending out "In a Little Spanish Town" by a Philippine orchestra.

But our greatest pride came when, as we were listening to WPG [illegible] and the music became too loud. We plugged the [illegible] in on the first two tubes only. Still too loud for the family. So we had to dim the tubes. If we ever get a good set we will have to give up the job for WPG likes our antenna.

Then we showed how expert we were in tuning in between the [illegible] Crowding WBZ was WMCA of New York City with "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes" and "Old Black Joe." Maybe we were in a sentimental mood that night or just a little tired, but the various quartettes, soloists and trios presented as nice an evening as ever we have heard.

The entire evening was spent out of town. Tomorrow we will patronize the local stations.

A $30,000 Piano

"What Price Piano?" There is only one person who can answer this question and that is Pauline Alpert, who will be heard Thursday evening beginning at 8:15 from WNAC. Miss Alpert can certainly give a definite answer to the price which piano has brought her for her income each year is well over $30,000.

Let Gas do your odd jobs of Heating

IT WON'T be long now until using the furnace for the heat job will be like driving a tack with a sledge hammer. Still we're going to have a whole lot of "goose-flesh" mornings and "shivery" evenings between now and June-bug-time, when an extra helping of heat will keep peace in the family.

From now on a Gas Radiantfire will do those little heating chores for you—give all the cozy comfort of a grate fire to your living room (or where you need it) and, incidentally, save a heap of furnace tending.

A warm room is a mighty fit place to be — Spring, Fall or Winter. Suppose you go right down to one of our neighborly neighborhood stores (list below) and pick out the Radiantfire model you want.

The HOLLYWOOD GIRL

by BEATRICE BURTON
Author of
"The LOVE WRECKER"

Adventures of a Girl From New England in the Movie Colony

"Now, look here, you're not going!" he declared.

READ THIS FIRST

BOBBIE RANSOM, Dedham school teacher of 22, is movie-mad. For years she has been dreaming of going to Hollywood to break into pictures.

Her father and her maiden AUNT GERTRUDE refuse to lend her a cent to go to Hollywood So does ANDREW JERROLD, who's in love with her and wants to marry her.

Then, a certain MRS. BURRAGE ordered to California for the Winter, wants a teacher to go with her to take care of her little girl, Jean. Bobbie accepts the place when she hears that Hollywood is the place where she is going to spend the Winter.

The day before she and Mrs. Burrage are to leave a telephone message comes from Mrs. Burrage. Aunt Gertrude takes it, and comes back to Bobbie, who is packing her trunks. Mrs Burrage has changed her mind and is not going to Hollywood, after all.

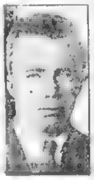
McGraw Optimistic
Expects Big Year
Has to Be Sensational

Johnson a Marvel
Looks Like Rookie
Starting 21st Year

McGRAW PREDICTS GREATEST BASEBALL YEAR

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 28—John McGraw, who manages the New York Giants and spends more money for ball players than any other baseball owner, is looking for one of the greatest baseball years in history. John doesn't say just why 1927 should be [illegible] any number of other seasons, but he [illegible] the same.

It was this [illegible] that induced him to make a couple of the most sensational baseball deals in history. He swapped Frankie Frisch, [illegible] infielder and product of the Bronx, for Rogers Hornsby, greatest hitter of all times and manager last Summer of the World Champion St. Louis Cardinals.



Nick Flatley.

John has plenty of brains. He has the expensive Yankees and Babe Ruth to contend with at home, so he had to be sensational. He has fixed up his ball club so that it will at least be a [illegible] contender in the National League. That will mean big crowds every day at the Polo Grounds and big dividends at the end of the year.

Baseball clubs with plenty of money can step out, grab players and make plenty more. It is the poor club that has to suffer and stagger along until a miracle happens and a pennant is won. Sometimes it takes years. Both Braves and Red Sox for instance have been bogged down in the second division for goodness knows how long. The teams have not the dough to sprinkle around for talent so they just have to grin and bear it and keep plugging.

Looks this year as if there was some sunshine ahead, but Spring appearances are poor things to gamble on. The flowers that bloom in the Spring are frequently withered weeds in August.

BOBBY JONES, HAVING MADE A HOLE IN ONE, HAS NOTHING MORE TO LIVE FOR. A LOT OF THE BIG PLAYERS WOULDN'T BE SORE IF ROBERT GAVE UP THE GAME.

[illegible] interest this week in the athletic activities of Sharkey and McTigue.

JOHNSON LOOKS LIKE PROMISING ROOKIE

WALTER JOHNSON, starting his twenty-first year of large league baseball, looks like a promising rookie just trying to make the grade. [illegible] on forever, apparently. He has but two years to go [illegible] record of active service in the big show. And any [illegible] league would gladly sign Walter to a two year contract [illegible] Johnson is a fine example of the [illegible] constant training is better than anything else for [illegible] where competition is the toughest.

Pipe smokers:

WE offer for your consideration a new pipe tobacco of singular merit, Granger Rough Cut.

Modestly priced, because instead of costly lithographed tins it is inexpensively and sensibly packed in heavy foil. But we urge you to judge it neither on package nor price, but on the two things pipe smokers will most enjoy; its good taste and its superb smoking qualities.

We believe that for character, mild richness, and coolness, Granger will compare with any pipe tobacco made. At ten cents per package (due to the foil wrapper), it is beyond question the greatest tobacco value to be had today.

The Thrill of Love and Millions Abounds in Every Chapter

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Luke Jefferies, walking along a London street, is asked by Mary Vickers to come into her father's house. The father is dying and seeks someone to whom he can entrust a mission. He explains that Abraham Steel, an old friend, has discovered a substitute for petrol. Agents of a powerful oil syndicate are seeking the formula. Vickers is trying to protect Steel. He offers Jefferies [illegible] reward if he will take his place. As he dies he warns him against Monsieur Carnifex, whom he brands as a traitor. Mary goes to live with Madge Aldhouse and Jefferies meets her and her brother, Jack Enderby. They make a midnight dash to Steel's house in the country. He is in fear of his life. Late in the evening Steel is murdered, but he tells Jefferies where his papers are.

The man who killed Steel reports to Carnifex that the dying inventor imparted his secret to Jefferies.

Jefferies calls on Curwen Brown of the Foreign Office, who promises his assistance in trailing down the conspirators.

Jefferies calls upon Carnifex who offers him twenty thousand pounds for the secret.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

LUKE JEFFERIES hesitated. He felt Carnifex's prominent eyes [illegible]

[illegible] It all depends upon yourself, if you [illegible] from us.

"You are kind," said Jefferies smiling, and walked from the room.

[illegible] to Carnifex's [illegible]

The death of Abraham Steel had been reported in the newspapers [illegible]

Jefferies saw Jack Enderby [illegible] Madge Aldhouse's [illegible] Mary Vickers and [illegible] Curwen Brown [illegible] Abraham Steel's [illegible] Mary was [illegible]

[illegible] Carnifex's [illegible] Luke Jefferies was very watchful [illegible] Two or three times [illegible] left his room [illegible] Jefferies had noticed a man upon the landing.

The Man Wore the Ordinary Garb of a Hotel Waiter

The man wore the ordinary garb of an hotel waiter [illegible] Jefferies was not satisfied. The man's face was [illegible] and [illegible] presence on the landing, near Jefferies room, was a little unusual.

One evening Jefferies left his room and took the lift downstairs to the restaurant. Arriving on the ground floor, he gave way to a sudden impulse, and took an ascending lift back to the fifth floor. Arriving there, he walked quickly and softly towards his room.

[illegible] Jefferies [illegible] a struggle [illegible] window was open and a [illegible]

[illegible]

In a moment Jefferies leaped forward and gripped the man's arm. [illegible] Jefferies [illegible] him tight, and forced him into a chair.

[illegible] he said. "And keep [illegible]"

[illegible] passage, and walked towards the window.

"He's gone," he said, almost to himself.

"Yes," said Jefferies. "Your pal's gone but I've got you and now I want to know all about it. Why has Carnifex broken the truce?"

The other smiled.

"Search me," he said flippantly.

"That's an idea," said Jefferies. He looked at the other [illegible] holding his right arm in one [illegible] hand.

His prisoner was a slender man with long black hair plastered back over a white forehead. His face was pale, despite the flush that exertion had given him. His eyes and the turn of his lips suggested humor, but on the whole his features [illegible] group of men [illegible] attention. One thing alone was uncommon about him, and that was a vivid scar that ran from the point of his chin until it was lost to sight beneath his collar.

Jefferies made a sudden movement with his left hand and ran his fingers over the other's black jacket.

"Any weapons?" he asked.

"No," said his prisoner coolly. "Not even a penknife."

"Turn out your pockets."

"[illegible] if you [illegible] breast pocket [illegible] You'll find [illegible] credentials."

"Your credentials?"

"Yes. From Curwen Brown. I [illegible] acting for him in this business. My name's Byrne. It was one of Carnifex's men who went through the window and down the fire escape. He had been searching for something, the nature of which, you'll know better than I do. If you hadn't [illegible] me so hard, I'd have got him."

"Good Lord. Why didn't you shout at once?"

"It was [illegible] He'd have got away. And as a matter of fact it [illegible] C. B. doesn't want that man. [illegible] to look after you [illegible] as they don't go too far. It's not our business to interfere."

"I see," said Jefferies. "You may or may not be one of Curwen Brown's men. I may as well have a look at those credentials."

"I admire your caution, Mr. Jefferies," he said, as he produced [illegible] papers from an inner pocket.

Jefferies examined them carefully.

"They seem all right," he said at length, returning them. "I'm glad to meet you, Mr. Byrne. I expect I shall want all the help I can get before I'm through this business. Have a whisky?"

"Thanks," said Byrne. "I never drink when I'm working."

So Jefferies had his peg alone whilst Byrne drank the toast on "confusion to Carnifex" in water from the hotel carafe.

Keep Hair Tidy, Keep It Curly

By Edna Wallace Hopper

Summer and winter my hair is ever wavy. It is tidy, but fluffy. It has a glow. Yet I never visit a hairdresser, never have a Marcel wave.

Those results are due to a hair dress which great experts made especially for me. I apply it twice a week. It doubles the beauty of my hair in an hour. And that wave and sheen remain.

Now you can obtain the same product. All toilet counters supply it as Edna Wallace Hopper's Wave and Sheen. The price is [illegible]. My guarantee comes with each bottle, so you take no risk.

This is a delight—one of the best things I ever found for women, especially those with bobbed hair. Go try it now.

PIMPLES VANISH WHILE YOU SLEEP

Can you think of a happier event than waking up in the morning and finding that while you slept your face began to clear of those unsightly blemishes that have caused you so much embarrassment and humiliation?

You can experience that joyful awakening. We guarantee that you can. Many times, no doubt, you would have been glad to pay hundreds of dollars to get rid of pimples. But all you need to pay is the price of Reco Pimple Remover—$2.95.

This wonderful treatment works while you sleep. You wash your face with Reco Facial Soap just before retiring. Then you dry your face thoroughly and apply with the finger tips a liquid known as Reco Pimple Remover. This liquid dries instantly. In the morning you wash your face again with Reco Facial Soap. The whole treatment requires less than two minutes a day, in the privacy of your own bathroom.

At once you can feel a difference in your face. Very shortly the pimples begin to vanish. When used as directed the Reco treatment has never failed. All but acne in its most advanced stages usually disappear in two weeks or less.

Leading physicians endorse Reco. It will not harm the most sensitive skin. Maturing children find it a safe and sure relief for their pimple troubles.

Ask your druggist today for Reco Pimple Remover. In the unlikely event that he hasn't it, send us 20c for postage and we will mail it to you. On arrival pay the postman $2.95. Address Roma Extract Company, 62 Fleet street, Boston, Mass.—Advt.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache Often Means You Have Not Been Drinking Enough Water

When you wake up with a backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and [illegible]. When your kidneys [illegible] you must [illegible] the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

MEDBURY SAYS---

By JOHN P. MEDBURY

ACCORDING to a recent labor census there are a million idle people in this country and half of them haven't even got jobs.

ONE fellow was offered a position the other day, but turned it down. He's been loafing for sixteen years and didn't want to spoil his record.

TO show you how lazy he is, he hit his finger with a hammer last week and got another guy to holler for him.

HE had St. Vitus dance once, but finally gave it up. It was too much trouble to shake.

HE went to a doctor and traded it for sleeping sickness.

HE spent so much time in bed that his wife didn't know whether to have him arrested or embalmed.

HE undressed on New Year's and set the alarm clock for Labor Day.

HIS wife says she's going to wake him up on the Fourth of July if she gets tired of being a widow.

SHE figures she might just as well bury him and start housekeeping in the cemetery.

SHE says she wishes she'd married a traveling salesman so that she could have a little companionship.

HER home life is so lonesome that she envies the wife of a six-day bicycle racer.

WHILE her husband isn't an old man, he's slept through two wars.

COMPARED to him, Rip Van Winkle had insomnia.

EVERY time she goes into his room she gets sore. She doesn't know whether to apply for a divorce or a burial permit.

EVEN when he does wake up he hasn't any ambition. He makes a snail look like a lightning bug.

SHE found him one morning with a black eye. He'd been fighting in his dreams and was too lazy to defend himself.

SOME fellow in a nightmare knocked him unconscious and woke him up.

IT isn't his fault that he spends so much time in bed. His father told him that he should do one thing, and do it well, so he's sleeping to the best of his ability.

THE MEDITATIONS OF A WIFE--BY HELEN ROWLAND

"OF all the sexes that roam the earth," the NOISEST is the masculine!

Man is always imploring heaven for "peace and quiet," far from the maddening chatter of women!

But from the day when he begins to beat drums, follow brass bands, and shoot off toy cannons, to the day when he opens the muffler and races the engine, sings at his bath and whistles through his dressing, he is a maker—and lover—of NOISES!

* * *

What he enjoys most about a baseball game or a football match is not the science of the thing or the technique of the players, but the NOISE he can make and the shouting he can do while it's going on!

* * *

No man thinks he has really enjoyed a game unless he comes home limp and hoarse from the RACKET he has made! No man feels that an evening of poker has been a real success unless he and the gang have kept the whole neighborhood awake all night with their laughter, joshing and swearing, and have ended the session with a boisterous round of song.

* * *

Every man loves to join a glee club or a male quartet, not for the love of a little harmony, but for the love of a lot of hilarity and the fun he can have exercising his larynx and filling the air with SOUND!

* * *

Any man can work better to the clatter of steel-riveters, the scream of fire whistles, the jangle of trolley cars and the screeching of taxicabs than he could in a quiet woodland spot, with no stimulating sound to inspire him. And any man enjoys his sleep more thoroughly when he sleeps out LOUD!

* * *

What is it about night clubs that so attracts a man? It is the noise of the cabaret, the blare of the saxophone, the paper poppers and the playful whistle and booming drum in his ear!

* * *

Whenever a man wants to celebrate anything, from a political victory to a holiday, he wants to do it with a lot of noise; tin horns, whirling rackets and shots in the air. He would shoot off firecrackers at his own wedding, if the women would let him.

* * *

And after a nice, quiet day at the office, with telephones ringing, desks and doors banging and fire sirens and steam drills punctuating his dictation, he comes home and turns on the loud speaker on his RADIO, to "settle his nerves."

* * *

Man is always begging a woman to "Keep QUIET!" But the only time a normal, healthy man really wants quiet is when he is shaving or fishing. And then he's so deadly quiet that it makes a woman want to SCREAM!

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

From his letter, John B. Smiley, Esq., President, further summarizes as follows (statements including both Remington Arms Company, Inc., and its subsidiary Companies):

BUSINESS: Remington Arms Company, Inc., incorporated in 1920, business founded in 1816, itself or through subsidiary companies, manufactures Remington arms, Remington U M C ammunition, Remington cutlery and Remington cash registers. Manufacturing plants are at Bridgeport, Connecticut; Ilion, New York; and Brimsdown, Middlesex, England. Sales in 1926 over $18,000,000.

The Company's business is well diversified. Its output of firearms and ammunition constitutes about one-third of the country's total production; its output of cash registers is the second largest in the world; and its output of pocket cutlery is one of the largest in the United States, and probably in the world.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: Proceeds of this $4,000,000 issue will provide part of the funds to retire the Company's maturing issue of $6,000,000 Three-Year 6% Gold Notes, due April 15, 1927, the remainder of the funds for the retirement of the latter issue being provided without further refinancing from revenues already received or to be received prior to that date. Upon completion of this financing the Company will have no floating debt then outstanding.

ASSETS: Total net assets, after deducting all liabilities other than funded debt, $24,076,573, or 205% of $11,718,000 total funded debt including this issue. Plants, representing actual investment of $20,100,874, after deducting reserves of $6,769,155 are conservatively valued at $13,331,719. First Mortgage Bonds, $7,718,000, only outstanding funded debt other than this issue. Total current assets upon completion of this financing amount to $12,161,199, or more than 7 times total current liabilities of $1,529,412. Net current assets, $10,631,787.

EARNINGS: Average annual net earnings (after depreciation charges and all inventory and other adjustments), for the 10 years ended December 31, 1926 were $1,579,227, or more than 2.3 times the $683,080 annual interest requirement on total funded debt to be outstanding upon completion of present financing. For the 23-year period since 1903 average annual net earnings were more than twice this interest requirement.

For the year 1923 net earnings were $2,455,454, or more than 3½ times this interest requirement. In the years 1924 and 1925 the Company showed net losses of $301,328 and $716,605 respectively (after depreciation charges and all inventory and other adjustments). These losses were entirely due to losses in the cash register department, chiefly caused by development expenses in that branch of the business.

For the year ended December 31, 1926 net earnings were $1,414,556, or more than twice the $683,080 interest requirement on total funded debt to be outstanding upon completion of the present financing. In addition, the Company in 1926 received, in settlement of cash register litigation and royalty contracts, income amounting to a total of $1,953,295 not included in the above stated net earnings because of its non-recurring character.

NEW ENGLAND TRADE HOLDS UP WELL

By FRANK H. MELOON
Financial Editor

New England trade is holding up well, reports from all sections combine to show. General business can be said to have shown a gain in many lines over its figures of last year. The complaint that increased volume of business is not accompanied by correspondingly increased profits is not borne out by any figures that have come to hand.

* * *

Dudley Harmon, executive vice-president of the New England Council, says: "Let me take this occasion to say how much we all appreciate the help you are giving the New England movement through your column."

Dr. A. W. Gilbert William B. MacColl

Among representative New Englanders most pleased by President Coolidge's action in vetoing the McNary-Haugen farm bill are William B. MacColl, president of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers, and Dr. Arthur W. Gilbert, Massachusetts commissioner of agriculture. Both were leaders in expressing opposition to the measure, as likely not only to be harmful to the farmer but also to prove injurious to New England. Dr. Gilbert said he felt it would practically ruin the New England cotton textile industry.

Motor registration officials of all the New England States kindly assisted me in compiling data regarding 1927 automobile registrations recently as compared with those for the like period a year ago. It was shown that there were increases in every State. Now it is found Bay State registrations are lagging. Although attempts have been made to lay the blame on the compulsory insurance law, it does not seem to the writer that this law, regardless of merits or demerits, can be properly held responsible. It seems more likely that the snowfalls have retarded registrations.

Guaranty Trust Co. of New York publishes its monthly list of "bank holidays" for March. All but eight days of March this year are holidays somewhere in the world. The idea prevails that bankers have more holidays than others. The fact is that stock brokers lead, as banks are open on many days when the stock market is closed.

Textile mills report larger orders, with production curtailed to a point where the menace of over-production no longer looms large.

Friday we pointed out that New England figures of new building contracts for the last reported week, ended Feb. 22, were the largest for any like week on record. The building trades represent one of the main backlogs of American prosperity. The figures given do not indicate there is ground for the pessimism one occasionally hears expressed.

* * *

It appears that dispatches saying the American Medical Society was warring on the sale of "violet ray" machines were in error. Superintendent C. E. Greenwood of the appliance department of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston tells me the war is on the "ultra-violet" ray machine, which is a different sort of thing. I have already stated I have heard only praise for the machines, sold by Boston Edison.

MASSASOIT STARTS ONLY PLANT OF ITS KIND

Only plant in the world of its kind, making cellulose from rice hulls and rice straw, started operation for the first time last week at Lake Charles, Louisiana. It is the fifth unit of Massasoit Manufacturing Co., of Fall River, Mass., pioneers in utilization of waste products.

First experiments with rice hulls were made about two years ago. Heretofore rice hulls had been burned, being considered worse than useless and involving a serious disposal problem for rice millers.

Cellulose is used in the making of rayon, artificial leather, motion picture films, automobile lacquers, celluloid, translucent paper for candy boxes, wall molding, etc.

EDISON IS AT WORK ON NEW RUBBER MACHINE

Thomas A. Edison says he believes South can be turned into fruitful rubber producing area. In close co-operation with Henry Ford he has obtained large quantity of rubber seed from Madagascar and is having ground prepared in Florida in which to start planting. He is working on a machine that will crush the rubber plant, press the sap and separate liquid rubber from the rosin.

Stocks Advancing Faster Than Business---Outlook

By B. C. FORBES

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—The security world is more aggressive than the business world. Stocks again climbed to new heights last week. Business didn't. Business is a trifle spotty, but the total volume continues satisfactory.

* * *

ENCOURAGING developments have predominated. The financial world welcomed President Coolidge's veto of the economically unsound McNary-Haugen bill; it welcomed the signing of the McFadden bill, perpetuating the Federal Reserve System; it welcomed the Federal Trade Commission's finding against the charge that the General Electric Company exercises a monopoly in the electric utility field.

B. C. Forbes

At first glance the Supreme Court's railway valuation ruling aroused some alarm, but further consideration brought out that the real test will not come until the Interstate Commerce Commission attempts to act in such a way that the rights of property may be endangered. The Supreme Court will then assert itself.

Altogether, the business world has had little occasion to worry over events at Washington during the current session of Congress.

THE UNEVEN course of business ... trated by such develop... these: ... utures in New York a... action of the 15-cent leve... eral price level is down ... l prices are irregular notwithstanding expansion in production and, presumably, in actual consumptive demand. Railway freight loadings, swelled by heavy coal shipments, are again breaking all records, yet retail trade is far from uniformly active. Oil output has reached the greatest figure ever known and price-cutting has resulted. Copper and zinc are higher. Bank clearings show a gain.

Leading motor manufacturers are increasing output very substantially, but some price-cutting has developed. Cotton manufacturers are doing distinctly better. The sugar industry still lags. Public building is more active, but private building is declining in various centres. Although the cost of living is tending downward, the wage trend is upward.

THE STOCK market is ignoring the danger of a strike of unionized soft coal miners. An old Wall Street maxim says, "Don't sell on strikes." The present assumption is that, even should work cease, the non-union mines would be able to keep industry going. Also, heavy supplies are now being laid in. The outcome of a strike, should it occur, is not regarded by Wall Street as at all doubtful.

A RISE in call money to 5 per cent. At the end of the week was properly regarded as representing nothing more than the result of temporary demands for month-end requirements. The middle of the month may also bring moderate firmness, due to the March 15th income tax payments.

The money market, however, could scarcely be more favorable to both business and the stock market.

BUSINESS world is now ... aiting Spring trade develop... here is no adequate ground ... ting them not to be reason... factory.

(... t, 1927, by B. C. Forbes.)

8 RAILS EARN NOTHING ON THEIR $761,000,000

Destruction of railroad value in western trunk line territory due to failure of Commerce Commission to maintain an adequate rate structure amounted to $1,160,000,000 between 1912 and 1922, according to statement by Security Holders' Committee for a Fair Return, of which W. Emlen Roosevelt, senior partner of Roosevelt & Son, is chairman. Committee says total wealth of nine states in territory increased 51 per cent. between 1912 and 1922, and that traffic volume and train loading increased 52 per cent., but equity of bonds of 10 carriers in territory, measured by market value of stocks, declined $500,000,000. Eight railroads are earning nothing on $761,000,000 of property.

WRITING PAPER SELLS DIVISION IN WISCONSIN

Sale of Shattuck & Babcock division of American Writing Paper Co. at Lapierre, Wis., to Nicolet Paper Co. for $450,000, is announced by Pres. S. L. Wilson. The Nicolet Paper Co., a new concern, will substitute manufacture of glassine paper for writing paper, and writing paper output of facory will be transferred to Holyoke in line with American Writing Paper Co.'s policy of concentration.

NATIONAL POLICIES OF THE HEARST NEWSPAPERS

1. An agreement of English-speaking peoples to preserve peace among themselves and promote the peace of the world.
2. A constitutional amendment to provide for the election of United States Senators in numbers proportionate to the population of each State, but no State to have less than two Senators. A reapportionment of Congressional representation immediately after every census, or in case of the failure of Congress so to act, to make the apportionment automatic at the end of the first Congressional session, the proportion of population for each representative in each case to be that of the existing Congress.
3. A separate Department of the Army, of the Navy and of the Air Forces, all united under a Secretary of National Defense.
4. Federal action to the limit of Federal Government powers to abolish illiteracy among the people of the United States, and the creation of a Secretary of Education.
5. Necessary measures to secure the election of Congress in November and its installation on the 1st of January following, and the inauguration of a President on the 1st of January immediately following his election in November.

MORE U. S. TALK

That Is What the People Want, and Less of International Babble

The House of Representatives, wisely guided by Speaker Longworth, has risen to a patriotic duty in voting money to start building three new cruisers which the Congress authorized in 1924. It properly refused to be deterred by the statement of Representative French of Idaho, spokesman for the administration.

Now look at the FACTS. Since the last disarmament conference held at Washington in 1922, the United States has BUILT 16 war vessels with a total tonnage of 120,909. (Six of the 16 were river gunboats.)

In that same period Japan, whose feelings we must not affront, has BUILT 101 war vessels of 339,201 tons, nearly THREE times as much as we built.

England, whose suspicions we must not arouse, has built 37 warships with 235,795 tons, over TWICE as much as we built.

France, whose press must be kept from rising up and calling us militaristic, has BUILT 95 vessels with 221,825 tons, nearly TWICE as much as we built.

Representative French says these nations would accuse us of starting an "armament race" if we began the construction of three cruisers totaling 30,000 tons, giving us a grand total of 150,909 tons since the armistice.

In other words, Representative French tells us the other nations will be very angry with us and very suspicious of us unless we build naval vessels only HALF as fast as France and England and only ONE-THIRD as fast as Japan.

The House of Representatives at first followed French and refused to vote money for the new cruisers. The Senate voted to appropriate $1,200,000.

It is an ominous thing that the lower House of Congress was dominated even briefly by the views of men who subordinate our defence to consideration of the feelings of foreign nations, racing as fast as they can race to outstrip us and leave us a second-class naval power. That this shortsighted view has now been abandoned is cause for thankfulness.

The American people are not going to be content with a SECOND-CLASS NAVY.

No Congressman or Senator is going to be popular at home telling how he saved money by refusing to vote money to get our navy out of the second-class.

The people have enough common sense to know that they have a FIRST-CLASS COUNTRY.

The people look to Congress to drop this international babble and talk United States.

The people want to BUILD the three cruisers authorized in 1924 and they want to BUILD, not just authorize, the ten additional cruisers.

They want to BUILD a group of big submarines that will put us on the Washington conference ratio with Japan.

They want to BUILD all the airplanes, not just half the airplanes, which the navy asks and which Congress itself "authorized" last year.

They want our battleship GUNS ELEVATED so they can shoot as far as the British.

They want an AMERICAN navy. They will not be patient with a Congress that acts on the theory that this is a SECOND-RATE COUNTRY and needs only a second-rate defence.

Nicaragua Is Important

Uncle Sam May Have to Dig Down There

In considering the relations of this country with Nicaragua it must be remembered that that Central American country may in the future be extremely important to the United States and the rest of the world. Nicaragua offers the best route for a sea level canal from the Pacific to the Atlantic, as Charles Fourier wrote long ago.

A sea level canal would not have the disadvantage of locks, easily destroyed by bombs from the air. The Nicaragua canal should be built and this country should build it. It should be done, of course, amicably, with some payment to Nicaragua in addition to the revenues that would flow to that country from such a canal.

The digging of such a canal should not be prevented by any unnecessary squeamishness. What the world NEEDS it ought to HAVE, including the best possible connections between the two great oceans.

VERY DIFFICULT TO PLEASE EVERYONE

By DR. FRANK CRANE

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE made a speech the other day in which he expressed his opinion of the folly of competing armaments by the various nations and also the necessity of the United States being prepared for war, if necessary.

It calls attention to the difficult road the executive in this country has to travel.

On the other hand he does not want to engage in the disastrous European plan of competing armaments. He knows there is no end to this and there is no stopping in the race of making one nation superior to all others.

Whatever one nation does, another must do the same, or more, and so it goes, rolling up like a snowball until the country is paralyzed with debt.

Financially speaking, thorough preparedness for conflict is almost as bad as conflict itself. On the other hand, no nation wants to be helpless or defenseless in time of stress.

The burden of militarism carried to an extreme is dreaded by all nations. That it is useless has been proven many times. The trend seldom seems to be to build up the possible resources of a country and to keep them so they can rapidly be transferred into military equipment in case of necessity.

Nobody would object to a large army and navy, provided the army and navy were engaged in constructive work and not lying about at great expense waiting for a chance to fight.

One of the things that makes a President's life a burden is the struggle between the militarists and the anti-militarists. There is a certain section of the country that is always urging him to make more equipment and another section always asking him not to make it.

To steer a middle course and to please everybody is a difficult job.

"LEGAL INVESTMENTS."

BANK COMMISSIONER ROY A HOVEY from time to time sends out from BEACON HILL a fair-sized flock of postcards that usually result in some bond issue having a quick rise in value of many thousands of dollars. The notices are mailed whenever additional bonds have met the strict requirements of the Bay State law entitling them to be ranked as "legal investments" for trust funds and savings banks.

TWO BOSTON PLINYS.

Since PLINY, Roman writer and admiral suffocated about 1900 years ago by approaching too near in studying an eruption of Mount Vesuvius, many have borne his name. It is, nevertheless, unusual that Boston today has two financiers named after him. One is PLINY FISK, interested in financing Cape Cod and later Cape realties, etc. Another is PLINY JEWEL, president of the Investment Bankers' Association of America.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

EVERYTHING Isn't For The Best!

"I just couldn't bear my life if I didn't know that everything was for the best," sighs Mildred.

Most of us would call Mildred's life a Total Loss. She's a colorless, crushed woman of twenty-nine, miserably unhappy in the gloomy home which is dominated by a sickly, shrewish mother and a weak, complaining father. They have very little money—but they will not allow Mildred to go to work. Nor will they permit her to marry. She sent her one lover away, six years ago. So there stays Mildred, harassed, starved for health—"doing her duty"—while her life stagnates.

"EVERYTHING IS FOR THE BEST!"
ELSIE ROBINSON
3-24

"But it's all for the best," she says. "So I try to be patient and stand it."

Fight for It.

There's a familiar sound to that yeep. It has been, for untold ages, the favorite alibi for large numbers of our citizens. But there isn't to date one shred of evidence to show that their worm-like attitude is justified.

Everything ISN'T for the best.

A great deal that happens to us and to our world is most decidedly for the worst. And it's an insult to a God of love and decency and healthy growth to try and pass the buck to Him by saying that He has willed such abominations.

What sort of a God would make little children work in cotton mills? Or kill young boys in war? Or coop human beings in city slums?

There's nothing decent or desirable in the private tangles into which we allow our lives to drift. Mildred, for example, hasn't done her duty and earned a martyr's crown by letting mamma and papa monopolize and waste her life. She has acted like a badly bent fish worm and gotten exactly what she deserved. God didn't spoil Mildred's career. She spoiled it herself by her own spinelessness and cowardice, and every time she murmurs, "It's all for the best!" she chalks up another smudge against her record.

Much for the Worst.

But surely there are things—sent us which neither one man nor all men can control! Things like accidents, death, misfortune—which we couldn't have foreseen—doesn't Fate send those things, and aren't they for thebest?

they for the best?

whether they're part of Fate's plan or part of our own muddling, I don't know. But I DO know that there's no benefit in such things unless, by your own spunk and sanity, you wrest the benefit from them.

You aren't going to grow rewards in heaven and a hallowed character on earth just because your bank busts and the house burns down and you get hardening of the arteries and little Willie dies. God's ways are mysterious, but it's a cinch he isn't busting banks and burning houses and killing children just to put varnish on your immortal soul. The only way you'll get any profit out of these calamities is by FIGHTING FOR IT. Standing up on your hind legs, doubling the good old fist and wading into the scrap. Making good in spite of the misery gnawing at your heart and the white fumbling in your throat. Proving you're a Regular Guy, even though you're seeing stars. If you can do that you'll win the game, though the cards are stacked against you. But you'll never win it by sitting on your shape and kissing the club that wallops you.

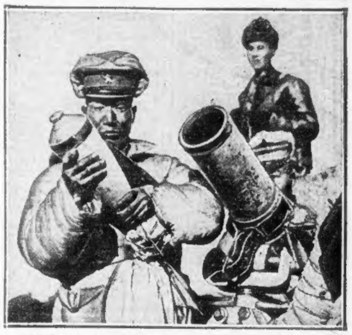
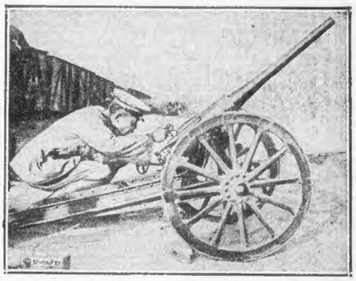
The saddest are these: "It might have been." —Whittier.

No Bows and Arrows

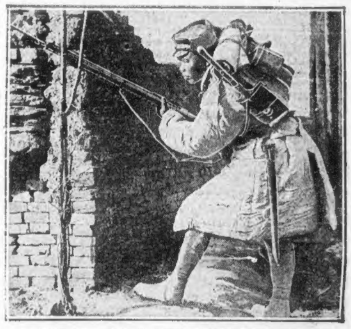
It Is a Different Asia Today



CHINESE SOLDIER LOADING TRENCH MORTAR.



MODERN CHINESE WITH HIS HIGH-POWER CANNON.



A FIGHTING CHINESE WITH MODERN EQUIPMENT.

These pictures tell in one second more than could be told by ten thousand written words, and show that a DIFFERENT Asia exists now.

Don't forget that China contains 62 MILLION MEN OF FIGHTING AGE. And they are all ready to fight—quite indifferent about dying.

Study the picture at the top, showing an Asiatic gunner about to load a heavy trench mortar.

Then let imagination take you back to old days when Asiatics actually succeeded in invading Western Europe and nearly destroyed Europe's civilization.

In those days they came with BOWS and ARROWS and war clubs, a few riding on ponies, others walking the dreary thousands of miles.

It would be a different army, a different invasion now, if for any reason Asia should start westward against the civilization of white Europeans.

Europe's flying machine, you say, might bomb and destroy the invading hosts of Asia. Possibly, but Chinese and other Asiatics ALSO can fly, DO fly, and are BUILDING flying machines. Labor is cheap with them. The flying machine takes not much material. A skillful Chinese can imitate exactly anything you show him, sometimes TOO exactly. You know the story of an Englishman who sent a patched pair of trousers to a Chinese tailor telling him to copy it. He copied it well, with all the patches. In another case, an American firm sent a cracked plate to China to have it duplicated on a big scale. It was duplicated, and every one of the plates sent back had the same crack in it.

Every flying machine the Chinese made would fly, if they had a [illegible]d sample to copy.

[illegible] pictures are enlightening. Look them over, study th[illegible]se soldier with the rifle and full equipment on his ba[illegible] duty of the West and of the white race is to deal jus[illegible]ining the rights of the white race while respecting the[illegible] of the Asiatics, and, above all, to KEEP PREPA[illegible]
